PRESIDENT RECEIVES FIRST DIPLOMATS SINCE HIS ILLNESS

Permits Foreign Representatives to Visit Him in Order of their Appointment.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Wilson today began receiving foreign diplomats who have been awaiting improvement of his health to formally present their credentials. Arrangements were made for the foreign representatives to visit the White House in the order of their arrival. Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, the Belgian Ambassador, whose appointment was announced last September, was the first to be received. Later in the day the Uruguayan Minister, Dr. Jacob O. Varela, who came to Washington in October, saw the President.

It was said that other diplomatic officials accredited since the President became ill, including Sir Auckland Geddes, the new British Ambassador, would be received in the near future. The Belgian Ambassador was presented to the President by Secretary of State Colby. The President received the Ambassador in his study and each made a short address. As soon as the Ambassador departed, Dr. Varela was received, being presented by Breckinridge Long, third Assistant Secretary of State. In presenting his credentials, the Minister made a short address to the President and Mr. Wilson responded.

LEFT HAND TURNS ARE PROHIBITED AT LINDELL AND GRAND

Three Traffic Policemen In structing Drivers on Regulation for Busy Corner.

Three traffic policemen today are endeavoring to teach a new rule forbidding a left-hand turn in traffic at Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard, an intersection now regarded as the busiest in St. Louis and one at which frequent blockades occur. In practice the new rule works out as follows:

Traffic going west in Lindell cannot turn south into Grand. Traffic going east in Lindell cannot turn north into Grand. Traffic going north in Grand cannot turn west into Lindell. Traffic going south in Grand cannot turn east into Lindell. A semaphoretic "stop" and "go" signal will be installed at the corner. A semaphoretic sign facing four ways: "No left-hand turn," but in such small letters that it could not be discerned at a distance. The semaphoretic sign will be retired temporarily until a sign large enough letters to be readable at a distance of 200 feet can be attached to it.

Right-hand turns still are permitted.

AUSTRIAN PRISONERS START HOME FROM SIBERIA ON FOOT

Thousands Begin 4000 Mile Journey in Tattered Uniforms of 1914—
No Aid From Bolsheviks.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Dressed in remnants of the uniforms they wore in 1914 when captured by the Russians, thousands of Austrian and Hungarian prisoners have started on foot the 4000 mile journey from Siberian concentration camps to their native lands. Reports to American Red Cross headquarters here told of the treatment of the liberated prisoners. No provision was made by the Bolsheviks for feeding, clothing or repatriating the men, the reports said. American relief organizations and churches have launched a campaign to raise $2,000,000 to supply the necessities of life and to aid in repatriation. Nearly $1,000,000 has already been subscribed.

11 NEW BRITISH OIL WELLS

Drilled in Isles of Empire and Have Yielded 100,000 Gallons.

LONDON, May 12.—Eleven oil wells which have been drilled in the British Isles have produced 100,000 gallons of oil.

3,000,000 Years Old.
TORONTO, Ont., May 12.—A fossil skeleton of a giant Dinosaur, 3,000,000 years old, recently dug out from the mountains in Alberta by Prof. A. Park, has been presented to the Royal Ontario Museum here. The skeleton is 27 feet long.

2-CENT LIMIT ON PROFIT ON SUGAR AT RETAIL

Margin of One Cent for Wholesale Sellers Fixed by Government in Notice to U. S. Attorney.

The United States Government has limited the margin of profit to be allowed retailers on sugar to two cents a pound, and that of wholesale sellers to one cent a pound, according to a telegram from the Department of Justice received by the District Attorney's office here this morning.

The telegram, as given out by Assistant District Attorney White, says that "The only recognizable margin of profit on sugar is one cent a pound for wholesalers and two cents a pound for retailers."

White said that although the telegram did not discuss that phase of the situation, he is of the opinion that the Government contemplates original cost of sugar plus a fixed margin of profit and not replacement cost. White said that so far as he knew there is now no Government price on sugar, and no instructions have been received as to enforcement of these profit restrictions.

CLOTHING COMPANY FOUND GUILTY IN PROFITING CASE

Utica Firm First in U. S. to Be Convicted Where Wearing Apparel Is Involved.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 12.—The John H. Roberts company of Utica has been found guilty of profiteering in the sale of clothing on 13 counts by a Federal court jury. The conviction is the first in the United States involving the sale of wearing apparel. Sentence was deferred.

The jury was out 17½ hours. It reached a unanimous verdict of guilty on one count in 20 minutes. One of the main questions was whether a retail firm is justified in figuring that it costs 55 per cent of the purchase price of merchandise, or 35 per cent of the selling price to do business. Counsel for the defense maintained that the margin of profit must not be based upon the wholesale price of the goods, but upon the purchase price, plus overhead.

LACK OF COAL CLOSING ST. CHARLES GAS PLANT

Factories, Stores, 2000 Homes, Bakers and Newspapers Without Supply.

The St. Charles Gas Light Co. of St. Charles, Mo., which, in addition to the city of St. Charles, supplies more than 2000 families with gas, closed its plant this morning on account of a shortage of coal for making gas, due to the switchmen's strike.

C. M. Johnson, manager, said that shipping conditions are such that the entire supply of coal for gas has been exhausted and the supply of gas has run out. He is expecting a shipment of coal which will enable him to open the plant and produce gas by 6 a. m. tomorrow.

In addition to homes the situation particularly affects the bakeries, the local newspapers and the factory of the International Shoe Co. The lighting system of the town is electrical.

COUNTY WATER TO BE CLOUDY

Lime for Clarification Held Up by Lack of Coal.

Water in the St. Louis County mains, supplied by the West St. Louis Water and Light Co., will be cloudy for the next few days, according to notices sent out this morning, due to the nonarrival of several carloads of lime which the company uses in clarifying the water.

ELOPING ENGINEER RETURNS AND WIFE HAS HIM ARRESTED

Mrs. H. H. Waldorf Checks Forgiveness Plea by Sending One of Their Children for Policemen.

HE WENT TO COAST
WITH DIVORCEE

Woman Came Back to Home of Parents Last Saturday —Man Says He "Lost His Head."

Harry H. Waldorf, 34 years old, former chief engineer at St. John's Hospital, returned to St. Louis last night from Los Angeles and went to his home, 5407 Idaho avenue, to ask for his wife's forgiveness for leaving her and their four children and eloping April 20 with Mrs. Laura Musick Wipfler of 2609 Louisiana avenue, a divorcee who thought he was single.

Waldorf checked his plea for forgiveness by sending one of their children for policemen, who arrested Waldorf and took him to the Carondelet Police Station, where he is held for the Federal and State authorities.

"Lost His Head," Elope Says. Mrs. Wipfler returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John U. Musick, last Saturday. Musick is a real estate dealer. After her arrival she refused to make a statement for publication. Her mother, Mrs. Musick, had said she had received a telephone message from Mrs. Wipfler in which she informed her that Mrs. Wipfler and Waldorf were married in Kansas City, April 20.

Waldorf today denied there had been a marriage. "I got married," he said, "but no ceremony was performed."

At the time of his arrest last night, Mrs. Waldorf told policemen the only excuse her husband gave was that he "lost his head."

Mann Act Charge Possible. Mrs. Waldorf reported the disappearance of her husband about 10 days ago and her complaint was laid before Federal and State prosecuting officials who have had it under advisement as to whether he should be charged with violating the Mann act or with bigamy.

It was said at that time that Waldorf had been a regular evening caller at the home of Mrs. Wipfler, whom he represented himself as "Harry Pyne," automobile salesman. As an excuse for his absence from home on these visits it was said he told his wife he was doing night work repairing X-ray machines for doctors at St. John's Hospital.

RENTS IN WALL BUILDING JUMP 100 TO 150 PER CENT

Tenants, Who Are Physicians and Dentists, Hold Protest Meeting.
Ask for Conference.

Tenants in the Wall Building, Vandeventer avenue and Olive street, held a protest meeting last night as a result of a notice of an increase in their rents from 100 to 150 per cent effective June 1. The notice was signed by the 70 doctors and dentists in the building was sent to Williams & Broad, agents of the owners, Peabody Bros., asking the agents to meet the tenants in the near future to discuss the increase.

The rent for office space in the six-story building, the upper floors of which are occupied exclusively by physicians, surgeons and dentists, was raised to a square foot 100 per cent, the exception of three doctors who are now paying the $2 rate, the present scale is from about 25 cents to $1.50.

The corner drug store on the ground floor has been notified of an increase from $125 to $200 effective July 1, when its lease expires. Of the seven first floor tenants, four have no leases will be subject to increases of 20 to 50 per cent, effective June 1.

LEAVES ESTATE TO DIVORCED WIFE TO ATONE FOR OLD WRONG

George Weber, 80, Makes Request to Mrs. Adelaide Krone Who Nursed Him on Deathbed.

By the terms of his will, filed today, he bequeaths his estate to his divorced wife, Mrs. Adelaide Krone of 4750 Michigan avenue, in an effort to make reparation for the " grievous wrong" he did her more than 20 years ago.

After Mrs. Weber obtained a divorce she married Krone, now dead. She nursed Weber during his last illness and before he died he turned over to her most of his property, so that the remaining estate is not large, according to Attorney Taylor R. Young, who filed the will. Mrs. Krone is made executrix without bond. Weber was about 80 years old.

CARRANZA FIGHTS DESPERATELY TO REACH THE COAST

Mexican President, in Flight, With Small Army, and Virtually Surrounded, Gives All-Day Battle.

NEW REGIME PLANS RECONSTRUCTION ERA

Will Try to Hasten Recognition by U. S. and American Capital Will Be Invited to Mexico.

VERA CRUZ, Tuesday, May 11.—President Venustiano Carranza's army, to consist of 5000 men, virtually surrounded by rebel forces commanded by Generals Hill and Trevino, is fighting a desperate battle between San Marcos, Puebla, and the village of Humantla, 10 miles northwest, in the State of Tlaxcala, according to advice received here. The struggle went on all day today, but no details of the action have been reported.

Rebel reinforcements, under command of Gen. Porras, have been ordered up from Cordoba, and have taken up positions at San Andres and Chalchicomula, southeast of the scene of today's battle, probably for the purpose of preventing the escape of Carranza, should he succeed in breaking through the lines thrown around him. Reports state the Carranza forces are entrenched along the Mexican National Railroad.

Agullar Stands by Carranza. Gen. Candido Agullar, son-in-law of President Carranza and Governor of the State of Vera Cruz, who has been reported to have been executed, abandoned all chance of escape from the country in an effort to join his superior and share his fate, says a dispatch to El Dictamen.

Emilio Carranza, son of the late President, has been reported to have been executed, abandoned all chance of escape from the country in an effort to join his superior and share his fate, says a dispatch to El Dictamen.

Paul H. Foster, American Consul here, has reported to the State Department in Washington that conditions are returning to normal, that the lives and property of foreigners have not been molested, and that there is no reason for retaining United States warships in Mexican waters, where they may cause friction.

Felix Diaz Wants to Leave. Felix Diaz, leader of a rebel group in the State of Vera Cruz, has asked permission to leave the country, promising he will take no further part in political movements in Mexico. It is probable his request will be granted.

ONE WIFE GIVES "BLUEBEARD" $1.20 AND SOME TOOTH PASTE

Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson Bids Watson Affectionate Farewell in Hospital at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 12.—Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson, one of the women who married the bigamist murderer sentenced to life imprisonment, yesterday called at the prison ward of the county hospital and bade him an affectionate farewell, preparatory to departing last night for her home in Sacramento, Cal.

She gave him a tube of tooth paste, a toothbrush and $1.20 in change, all she was quoted as saying. The prisoner, who has said he was christened Joseph Gilliam, and that he had taken the name of San Holden, declared Mrs. Williamson was "the only one of the many women with whom I have had to do who has nothing to say against me."

"She has borne with me in my suffering," he continued. "Her memory will be my most valued possession throughout the years behind the prison walls."

HINES TO ACT AS ARBITRATOR IN DISPUTE OVER GERMAN SHIPS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Walker D. Hines, who retires Saturday as Director-General of the Railroad Administration, will depart this month for Europe to act as arbitrator in determining the ownership of a number of vessels under the German flag operating on the Danube, Elbe, Rhine and Oder rivers.

Hines was appointed by President Wilson, who was asked by the interested nations, including Belgium, Czech-Slovakia and Rumania, to name an arbitrator.

$300,000,000 FOR NEW CARS

Senate Committee Agrees to Use of Fund to Relieve Car Shortage.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Legislation designed to aid railroads and shippers in the car shortage situation by extending the use of the $200,000,000 revolving fund provided in the transportation act from five to 15 years and also amending the law in other respects was agreed on today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

CROWDS CHEERED OBREGON SUNDAY IN MEXICO CITY

Revolutionist's Spectacular Return to Capital Made on Horseback.

MEXICO CITY, via El Paso, Junction, May 9.—A "man on horseback" rode into Mexico City Sunday noon, Gen. Alvaro Obregon, who fled from the capital alone, in a brackery greasy clothes in the early morning hours before dawn, April 13, returned at the head of several thousand troops.

From Tacubaya, a few miles southwest of Mexico City, the presidential candidate rode on a prancing bay stallion through the crowded streets as far as the national palace.

Hailing the procession for a few moments, Gen. Obregon mounted to the balcony of a hotel fronting the Plaza de la Reforma and delivered a short speech, explaining the ideals that caused him to leave President Carranza to evacuate the capital.

The appearance of the Sonoran's short figure, coatless and with face heavily bearded, and the right sleeve dangling empty at his side, was the signal for cheers.

Descending, Obregon resumed his ride to the center of the city. The great Plaza de la Constitucion, on which face the National Palace and the great towers of the cathedral, was a veritable moving sea of humanity.

Progress of the procession through the dense mass of spectators was difficult, but Gen. Obregon finally made the circuit of the plaza and entered an outlying cafe for lunch.

The General did not enter the palace, where, from the balconies, Gen. Pablo Gonzales, his former rival for the presidency, and other leaders of the liberal revolutionary movement, were watching the procession.

In the afternoon Gen. Obregon returned to his headquarters in the suburb of Tacubaya. The result of conferences among the revolutionary leaders was being awaited here with great interest.

BORAH OFFERS BILL FOR LOANS INSTEAD OF BONUS TO SOLDIERS

Measure Would Make Available $300,000,000 in Next 10 Years to All Honorably Discharged.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Soldier relief legislation depending radically from proposals before the House was introduced today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. It proposes to make available $300,000,000 during the next 10 years for loans to all men honorably discharged from service. No direct gift would be involved and the amount available for loans would be limited to $500,000,000 annually.

The measure would make a choice of two types of general loans. One, limited to $3000, would be on a long-term basis, for the purchase of suburban homes or farms. Veterans taking advantage of terms would have to invest an equal amount.

The second, referred to in the bill as "a land settlement plan," would allow the Secretary of the Interior to establish drainage or irrigation districts, employing veterans in all work, farm sites on which would afterwards be made available to servicemen on a 40-year-payment plan, at actual cost and 5½ per cent interest.

Servicemen settling on the land would be entitled in addition to $2000 in short-time loans.

5 OF 18 BOND ITEMS FOR $3,725,000 CARRY; CITY MAY BUY ISSUE

Comptroller Nolte Says Mayor Favors Proposal to Purchase Securities From Sinking Fund.

PAPER WOULD BE HELD AS ASSETS

Reason for Not Marketing Bonds Is Present Demand for High Interest Rates — Kiel Disappointed.

The $3,725,000 of municipal bonds, voted yesterday for five public improvement works, probably will not be placed on the market, but will be bought by the city itself, with money from the municipal sinking fund, and will be held as assets of the sinking fund.

This plan was announced today by Comptroller Nolte, who said it had the approval of the Mayor, and that he believed it would be determined upon by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which consists of the Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen.

The sinking fund, which now amounts to $5,638,370, is nearly one-half in the form of negotiable securities, and some city bonds are now included in these securities, though the greater part is Liberty Bonds, bought in the war period. The exact division of the sinking fund is: Cash, $3,518,370; securities, $2,120,000.

Set Aside to Pay Bonds. "The sinking fund is set apart annually for the payment of city bonds when they mature. In the annual appropriation, interest and sinking fund are grouped together. These two items are a fixed consideration in making up the annual tax rate.

When the city buys its own bonds with money from the sinking fund, it adds to the interest and sinking fund, in subsequent years, the annual interest on the bonds purchased, and an allotted part of the sum which will be needed to retire them when they mature. The bonds then held as a part of the fund, and are retired in due time. This method, Nolte said, is not a new one, and is similar to the purchase of Liberty Bonds by the United States Government.

Glads in Interest Rate. The reason for not placing the bonds on the market now, Nolte said, is the high rate of interest which the bonds would have to carry, in order to find purchasers. He said the bonds should be made to bear not more than 4½ per cent interest, and that at this rate they will be profitable to the city, as compared with the interest rate of 2½ per cent which the city receives from the banks for cash in the sinking fund.

Nolte said that, to provide for the interest and sinking fund on the new bonds, an addition of 5 cents to the tax rate would probably be necessary. The rate has been increased 15 cents for school purposes, so that the rate, which was $2.35 last year, for city and school purposes, would become $2.50 for the coming year on the $100 valuation.

The issuance of any bonds, and the expenditure of the bond money, are to be subject to the approval of the Citizens' Supervisory Committee, under the promise made by the Board of Estimate.

Urgent Needs Approved. Both Mayor Kiel and the Comptroller today commented on the fact that the bonds which were voted were for the objects which had been considered most immediately urgent. They said that, if the entire $24,000,000 bond issue had passed, the other works would have been deferred until the bond market, labor conditions and material prices became more favorable.

"I am very much disappointed at the defeat of so many of the items which I attribute to the light local vote cast," the Mayor said. "I believe the opposition vote was practically all polled, and that if a few thousand more persons had taken sufficient interest to go to the polls, all the propositions would have carried."

Street Plans to Go Ahead. "However, the people did pass the items which were of the most immediate necessity. The items which were carried were all work which, we figured, would have to be done in the next three or four years, bonds or no bonds. The items which were defeated were those which can wait longer, and it may be possible to submit some of these later, when the public sense of their necessity has been more fully aroused."

As to street openings and widening, we shall go ahead with our

Grade Crossing Eliminations and Street Reconstruction Among Propositions Ap- proved by Voters.

HIGHEST TOTAL VOTE
LESS THAN 65,000

Proposal for New Morgue Defeated by Only 13 — Majority in Favor of Every Proposal.

The two-thirds requirement, made by the Constitution of Missouri for the passage of a bond issue in the City of St. Louis, caused the defeat of 13 of the 18 bond propositions submitted to the voters at yesterday's special election.

All the 18 items received majorities of more than 15,000 in a total nearly 65,000. But only five items obtained the necessary two-thirds. These were:

No. 1. Elimination of grade crossings, $905,000. Carried by 873 more than the necessary two-thirds.

No. 8. Insane and hospital farm, $1,100,000. Carried by 674.

No. 12. New fire engine houses, $260,000. Carried by 930.

No. 17. Maintenance (reconstruction) of traffic thoroughfares $360,000. Carried by 159.

No. 18. New municipal electric lighting system, $1,000,000. Carried by 203.

The total of the five items carried was $2,725,000, out of a proposed total of $24,000,000.

Thirteen Items Defeated. The 13 items defeated, amounting to $25,275,000, and the margins by which they failed to reach the required two-thirds, though all had a majority, were:

2. Purchase of parks and playgrounds, $1,845,000. Lost by 162.

3. Improvement of parks, $1,174,500. Lost by 657.

4. Municipal Auditorium and community building, $300,000. Lost by 2742.

5. Reconstruction and extension of public sewers, $2,575,000. Lost by 869.

6. River des Peres, $9,000,000. Lost by 2073.

7. Municipal farm for prisoners, $400,000. Lost by 2071.

9. Municipal Bridge, $1,500,000. Lost by 2443.

10. Municipal docks, $1,700,000. Lost by 1683.

11. Street openings, $1,250,000. Lost by 821.

13. Industrial farm, $156,000. Lost by 107.

14. Additional cells in city jail, $76,000. Lost by 2415.

15. Morgue, $48,000. Lost by 13.

16. Municipal garage, $90,000. Lost by 1742.

The highest total vote cast on any item was 44,908, on the municipal auditorium. This is only 44 per cent of the entire registered vote, which is 47,000.

The official count by the Election Board will begin tomorrow. It is expected to make the usual slight changes in the figures shown by the unofficial poll count. There is no expectation that it will change the result in

THREE DIVISIONS IN EACH PARTY OVER LEAGUE OF NATIONS

So Similar in Both Old Political Organizations They Appear to Be Nucleus of Three Parties.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Political events of the last 24 hours have emphasized the improbability of a reconciliation between the various factions in both the Democratic and Republican parties who have taken their respective attitudes toward the peace treaty and League of Nations during the past year.

Three divisions exist in each party and by virtue of their similarity they appear now to be the nucleus of three political parties.

President Wilson's letter to the Oregon Democrats, asking for the unqualified endorsement of the treaty and league, followed, as it was, by the announcement of Republican leaders in Chicago that they would stand on the Lodge reservations, has now been attacked by the so-called "irreconcilables" led by Senators Johnson and Borah, who hint at a bolt from the Republican party unless reservations, league, treaty and all, are condemned.

Outlook is not bright for the presidential nominations, therefore, would appear to be this:

Republican—Lowden, Wood or Hoover, on platform of Lodge reservations, and their chances about in the order named.

Democratic—McAdoo, Cox or Palmer, on a platform written by President Wilson, advocating unqualified adoption of the treaty, but accepting interpretative reservations, such as those of the Hitchcock reservations.

Independent or third party—Senator Hiram Johnson, or Senator Follette, on a platform opposing the entire treaty and a league and reservations.

Support for a Third Party.

Support for this third party will come from friends of William Jennings Bryan, who probably will wage an unsuccessful fight in the San Francisco convention against the Wilson platform, though Mr. Bryan himself would be in the center of supporting a third party which condemned the treaty and league, inasmuch as he himself is ready to accept the Lodge reservations in the interest of a start toward peace.

Support for the third party will come also from those Democrats, particularly of Irish extraction, who think article 10 of the covenant interferes with the prospect of Irish freedom and time about an early ally behind Hiram Johnson.

Of course, Republicans fond of Johnson will join a third party if he or someone of his viewpoint heads a third ticket. The new party will acquire strength from the so-called liberal or radical wings of the two big parties.

The readjustment or realignment of political forces is causing no little concern to both Republicans and Democrats. The Republicans are supremely confident that the defections will not be considerable.

The Democrats think the departure of Johnson and his following from the regular Republican party will make the Lodge reservationist program easy to attack, and that the real friends of the League will see the Democratic platform as the only means of bringing about an early partnership of the United States in the present League of Nations.

McAdoo got an early start for the nomination. Added to this are the mistakes made by Palmer—or rather the group he has rightly or wrongly antagonized. He is under attack for failing to reduce the cost of living, for alienating labor by his policy in the coal injunction suits, and for his wholesale raids on so-called "reds."

The last change influences probably only the radical end of the Democratic party, which, in any event, would not stick with the Wilson kind of Democracy, no matter whether Palmer, McAdoo or any other heir of the Wilson policies were nominated. This group still holds Mr. Wilson responsible for Postmaster General Burroughs' repression of "liberals."

GENERAL, PRIVATES ON FIRST LIST OF GERMAN CRIMINALS

Three U-Boat Commanders Among Those to Be Arraigned Said to Have Fled.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 12.—Forty-six German ranking from an army corps commander to a private, figure on the Allies' first specified list of war criminals to be arraigned in the Leipzig Supreme Court.

Prominent among them are Prince Ernst of Saxony and Gen. von Buelow, commander of the second army corps, who with subordinate officers, are accused of cruelties in the Namur district of Belgium. Gen. von Kirchbach and Col. von Seydlitz will be tried for alleged cruelties at Kalisz, Poland, and the well-known submarine commander, Admiral von Dore, for torpedoing Italian vessels.

Three other submarine commanders, Neumann von Nothitz, Werner and Patzig, will be tried on the charge of torpedoing English hospital ships.

Gen. Stenger of the infantry stands charged with ordering that prisoners and wounded taken by his brigade be put to death. Other officers, non-commissioned officers and privates are accused of inhuman treatment of British prisoners in camps.

Gen. Kruska is practically charged with spreading typhus among prisoners in the Casel camp, while an army surgeon, Dr. Oscar Michaelis, is accused of causing the death of sick and wounded in his charge by systematic ill treatment. Gen. von Owen, former Governor of Metz, will be tried for crimes alleged to have been committed by troops under his command in the villages of Eastern France.

It is said here that the submarine commander mentioned in the foregoing list left Germany some time ago.

periodicals and considers the treaty and league objectionable as not being liberal enough, not containing more of the doctrines of internationalism.

McAdoo and Palmer.

But, on the whole, Mr. McAdoo, being out of public office since the armistice, has seemed to improve his chances with the rank and file of the Democrats, while Mr. Palmer has been under fire right along.

Cox of Ohio is a serious contender, but just now Mr. McAdoo seems to be in the lead. That is not an individual opinion. It is the consensus of the Democrats who are on the inside of things and who know what the leaders of delegates are about to do on the final count at San Francisco.

As for the Republican nomination, the strength of Gov. Lowden grows. His pronouncements on the League of Nations are satisfactory to the Lodge reservationist group, and he brings, moreover, an administrative record in Government affairs in Illinois as well as an experience in Congress as an assiduous bargaining man with the legislative branch of the Government, as well as an efficiency program in the executive end.

Major-General Wood has a splendid organization and has surprised even his admirers here by the way he has moved forward. But if the truth be told the disinterested leaders are afraid to name a soldier candidate.

The way the fight on the bonus bill has fluctuated is an indication of the uncertainty here as to what might happen to a soldier candidate and the opposition to universal military training which killed that measure in the House of Representatives.

Another sign of the unexpected weakness of the soldier element in our policies at the close of a big war.

The situation is, of course, full of uncertainties—but today it looks like McAdoo for the Democratic nomination, Gov. Lowden for the Republican nomination, and Senator Johnson for the third party, with the chances of Herbert Hoover being the Republican candidate still not an impossible contingency. His chances for the Democratic nomination are gone.

He has read himself out of that party by his attitude toward the California primaries, and he has failed to arouse Republican strength by his hesitancy to declare himself a Republican. Lowden, McAdoo and Johnson are in the front rank today.

California U. Increases Pay.

BERKELEY, Cal., May 12.—Provision for an annual salary scale for full professors at the University of California varying from $8,000 to $10,000 and of instructors from $1,500 to $2,400, which were said to be decided advances, is announced by President Barrows.

AIR MAIL SERVICE TWO YEARS OLD SATURDAY

Postoffice Department Reports Saving in Time and Money in Last Year.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Government air mail service will celebrate its second birthday anniversary Saturday, the operations of which, according to the Postoffice Department, statistics for the entire year show an average performance of 87 per cent, including flights under adverse conditions.

Postal airplanes in the last 12 months transported 535,000 pounds of mail matter 438,000 miles. The service was economical financially as well as in time, the department announced, $42,000 being saved on the Washington-New York route and $100,000 between New York and Chicago.

With regard to future plans the announcement said:

"Until the transcontinental route is established and service actually begins from New York to San Francisco, the Chicago-Omaha route will be merely for the purpose of expediting the mail between Chicago and Omaha. When the New York-Frisco route starts, however, the air mail, which will leave New York at 8 a. m., will be in Omaha that same day before sunset. Mail leaving New York Monday morning will arrive in San Francisco by 9 o'clock Wednesday morning."

He air mail can be 12 hours behind its schedule from New York to San Francisco and still beat the train mail into the Golden Gate city by 20 hours if the train connection is made at Chicago, and by 44 hours if that connection is missed."

Some comment was heard at the city hall on the apparent lack of interest manifested by some city employees in the bond campaign. While it is believed that nearly all the city employees themselves voted for the bonds, they did not seem to show their usual activity in getting others to the polls. This, it is believed, may have had some connection with their recent failure to obtain more than a 10 per cent increase in their scale of pay.

FIRST DEATH OCCURS IN FAMILY OF 20 CHILDREN

Father, Resident of Rapid City, S. D., Now 77, Does All Work on His Hog Farm.

By the Associated Press.

RAPID, S. D., May 12.—The first death in a family of 20 children, the youngest of whom is 25 years old, occurred here recently.

The father of the family, 77 years old, still does all of the work on his hog farm in the suburbs of Sioux Falls. He has never had need for the services of a doctor.

The father came to the United States from Germany in 1837 when he was 14 years old. He served four years in the Civil War.

He was twice married. To his first wife were born nine sons and four daughters. Three sons and four daughters were born to his second wife. Each of the sons now weighs more than 400 pounds and each lived to be more than 80 years old.

WHISKY SEIZED WITHOUT WARRANT ORDERED RETURNED

Judge Faris Rules Liquor Was Illegally Taken From Living Rooms Over Carr Street Saloon.

By the Associated Press.

A quantity of whisky seized by Prohibition Enforcement Agents in a raid on the saloon of George Messier, 1118 Carr street, was ordered returned to Messier today by Judge Faris in Federal Court.

Messier was fined $300 on April 1 on a charge of selling whisky.

The whisky ordered returned—24 pint bottles, 16 one-half pint bottles, and several quarts—was found in Messier's living rooms above the saloon. Judge Faris held that it was illegally seized without search warrant. However, a large quantity of compound whisky, which is whisky made by the mixture of alcohol, water and coloring matter, on which the revenue tax had not been paid, was not returned to Messier.

Messier was waiting trial on a second charge of sale of whisky, preferred against his first plea of guilt, and a quantity of whisky was seized in the same rooms above the saloon. However, Messier, at the time of the second raid, had moved his family to other living quarters.

SPECULATORS ARE BLAMED FOR HIGH PRICES OF FOODS

Congressman Baer of North Dakota Tells Grocers He Will Introduce Bill Making Speculation a Felony.

ADDRESSES SOUTHERN WHOLESALERS HERE

Asserts Outsiders Are Interfering and Cites Case of Illinois Machine Company Dealing in Sugar.

Congressman John M. Baer of North Dakota told the delegates of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, which today began the second session of its four-day convention at Hotel Statler, that he had prepared a bill making it a felony to speculate in food.

He said that the food gambler was a parasite on the back of the human system and that it was high time for the public to delouse itself. Gambling with dice or cards or on horse races is not tolerated, he said, but the speculator who gambles with the necessities of life is the greatest menace to society.

There is only one legitimate channel of food distribution, he said, and that is from the producer or manufacturer to the wholesaler, to the retailer, to the consumer. The high cost of living, he asserted, is the result of interference on the part of outsiders with the regular program.

Food Problem Ignored.

Baer said that he quite agreed with another speaker who said that Congress should open its daily sessions with the reading of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. He said there was too much legislation aimed at the legitimate merchants of the country and not enough attention paid to the real cause of the food problem.

He said that brokers and speculators, financed by banking institutions that would not dare to back a roulette or faro game, are hoarding vast supplies of food and unloading them on the market at their own prices when the consumers are unable to get the food through the legitimate channels of trade.

He told of a wholesaler who, unable to get sugar for his customers from the refiners, had ordered 600 pounds from a broker and when he received it he found that it had been billed by a machinery manufacturing concern in Illinois. The shell game has been eliminated, he said, and in the present situation regarding food, legislation should be enacted that will prevent a machinery manufacturer from dealing in sugar.

Bill Simply Phrased.

Baer said that his bill was couched in simple phraseology. It merely provides, he said, that no one shall be permitted to buy or sell necessities of life unless it is his intention to deliver the goods to the proper channels.

The public is not altogether blameless for existing conditions, Baer added. He related an instance of a Senator's wife who telephoned to a drug store for a package of gum. She demanded that it be fresh, he said, and wanted it delivered to her apartment.

Victor Murdock, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, in an address, said the United States has become the greatest merchant in the world because it has the raw materials and the money to buy them and the ships to bring them and has the processes and the tool power to produce wares of all kinds and the credit power to finance their sales.

Canners' Contract Rejected.

J. H. Sears of Chicago, O., president of the National Canners' Association, who will address the grocers in the afternoon, replied today to the charge made yesterday by J. H. McLaurin, president of the association, who said that the high cost of living was due in a large measure to the pro rata form of contract imposed on the wholesalers by the canners. Sears said that if the canners used any other form of contract they would be assuming all the risks and hazards presented by weather conditions and that many would be forced into bankruptcy.

"The wholesalers are demanding a 10 per cent contract," he said. "That is a contract calling for the exact amount of goods ordered by them at a specified price. When we take orders on future deliveries we are able to estimate the cost of the goods in every department with the exception of labor. If the crop fails short and we are unable to deliver the amounts ordered by the various wholesalers we prorate the deliveries so that each wholesaler gets an equal share."

"Of course, the contract is abused now and then. All contracts are abused. I desire to say that 95 per cent of the canners are honest, just as are 95 per cent of business men in other lines. We have undertaken a plan to eliminate dishonest practices. We are adopting an inspection system which will launch a campaign of education. Every canner whose goods under inspection will have a seal on his package, and we will issue no seals

Grandson Who Sues for Field Hundred Million Estate; His Wife

CAPT. AND MRS. MARSHALL FIELD III.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The residuary estate of the late Marshall Field, estimated at $100,000,000, is at stake in an action begun in Superior Court yesterday by Capt. Marshall Field III, who asks for immediate possession of the estate. The suit was brought to construe a section of the will. It is contended that, since the death of the plaintiff's brother, Henry Field, the residuary estate should be surrendered to Capt. Field, who is a grandson of Marshall Field.

Mrs. Nancy Perkins Field Tree, widow of Henry Field, who was married last week to Tree in London, has filed a cross bill claiming a dower interest in Henry Field's share of the estate.

A third claim is set up by Henry Anthony Marsh, 4-year-old son of Henry Field and Peggy Marsh, a London chorus girl. Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, representing the boy, argued that two-fifths of Henry Field's interest should descend to his son.

The Probate Court recently decided against Peggy Marsh's son in a suit brought to collect a share of a $5,000,000 trust fund created by Marshall Field.

HAY DECIDES NOT TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

"Dry" Leader Says There Is No Necessity for Entering Race to Defend Principles.

Charles M. Hay, St. Louis attorney and "dry" leader, in a statement issued today, announces he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

He was ready to enter the race, he said, if the Joplin State convention had shown a tendency to repudiate the policies of the national ad. He had put a "wet" plank in its platform, but as it did neither, he does not feel that the principles of the administration, the League of Nations and the Eighteenth Amendment will be raised as issues within the party ranks, and there is no occasion for announcing his candidacy in their defense.

In explanation of his decision, he says: "Now that gentlemen who have heretofore sought to raise an issue upon these matters within the party themselves realize that the issue cannot be successfully raised, as frankly stated by Maj. Harry R. Hawes in his interview published a few days ago, I feel that I am justified in adhering to the conclusion I reached some months ago not to become a candidate for United States Senator."

MRS. VIRGINIA C. ADAMS BURIED

Grandniece of First Territorial Governor.

The funeral of Mrs. Virginia Claiborne Adams, 67 years old, of Webster Groves, who died Saturday of pneumonia, was held yesterday from the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church to Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Adams came to St. Louis with her parents in 1855. Her father was Nathaniel Claiborne, an attorney and a Colonel in the Confederate army. She was a grandniece of William Claiborne, appointed by President Jefferson as the first Governor of Louisiana Territory. Mrs. Adams is survived by her husband, Robert McCormick Adams, and seven children—Claiborne, Amanda, Natalie, Kyle, Robert and John.

FAMILIES LEAVING DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., May 12.—The housing situation in Detroit was responsible today for Arthur F. Lederle, head of the Attendance Department of the Board of Education, for the withdrawal since April 1 of 2580 children from the city's schools.

Prior to April, the school census showed, new pupils more than counterbalanced the departures, but the net loss during the last six weeks was placed at 742.

Reports of teachers to the Attendance Department, Lederle said, showed that a majority of the families were moving to other cities because of the housing shortage and resultant high rents.

SOCIALISTS FAVOR USING WEALTH FOR BENEFIT OF ALL

Public Administration for Equal Service to People, Demanded in Convention Declaration.

STAND VICTORY FOR THE CONSERVATIVES

"Red Flag Internationalists" Defeated in Their Fight for Dictatorship of Proletariat.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Public administration of the country's wealth, "for the equal benefit of all," was adopted as the first of its declaration of principles by the national convention of the Socialist party of America today.

This action emphasized the victory of the "conservative" party forces over the "red flag" demands for the "dictatorship of the proletariat" and limitation of citizenship to workers. The primary principle as adopted reads: "The Socialist party of the United States demands that the country and its wealth be redeemed from the control of private interests and turned over to the people to be administered for the equal benefit of all."

Church Declaration Rejected.

The convention, in considering its principles, voted down the declaration that a "privileged few in America own the people's churches and regulate their souls."

Joseph H. McIntyre, of the District of Columbia said that, since joining the Socialist party, he had ceased being a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

"I am the father of six children and none of them goes to church," McIntyre declared. "Socialist literature has opened my eyes. If we put religion into our platform, we will get into a religious discussion and forget all about Socialism. Get the voters first and talk religion out of them afterwards."

The "red flag" internationalists were defeated yesterday by a vote of 103 to 33 in their attempt to substitute a more radical program for the party.

Debate Marked by Bitterness.

The "red flag" declaration of principles submitted by the delegation from Illinois provided for the "dictatorship of the proletariat" and limitation of citizenship throughout the United States.

"You are afraid of the dictatorship of the proletariat," J. Louis Engdahl shouted in closing the debate on the Illinois measures. "Yet you have the dictatorship of Palmer, Wilson and Burleson. You can't fool anybody by phrases, nor can you fool anybody with the decorations of the convention hall, the American flag, the flag of Wall Street, and the dictatorship of Wilson, Palmer and Burleson. There is only one road to victory. There is only one flag, the red flag of International Socialism. We can do nothing better than ally ourselves with our comrades in Russia, Italy and everywhere else where they believe in International Socialism."

"I see only one kind of Socialism, international, world Socialism. We cannot compete as phrase mongers with the labor party, the Nonpartisan League, the Committee of Forty-eight, or any of the old parties. But we can compete with all in the phrases of revolution, Socialism, Bolshevism, dictatorship."

"Are we scientific Socialists, or are we dogmatists?" O'Neal asked. "The time and conditions which favored the Russian revolution must be studied before we attempt to adopt dictatorship. Let it go throughout the country that you favor a dictatorship of the proletariat and you cease to be a political party. You must do your work underground, or you will be driven under by Sweet at Albany and the politicians at Washington, who exercise such a dictatorship; but that would not excuse us."

"Bourgeois democracy, with all its shams and illusions, permits in normal times decision by an honest and fair discussion. To espouse the dictatorship program would turn every such democracy into an absolute autocracy."

U. R. INCREASES CHARGES FOR CARS FOR SCHOOL PICNICS

Complaint Made Against Company to Public Service Commission by Head of Alliance.

Complaint against the United Railways is made in a letter to the State Public Service Commission by William Zachritz, general president of the St. Louis Public School Patrons' Alliance, on account of the rate the railway company is demanding for its cars for school picnics.

The rate for the cars was $5 last year and $10 the year before. Zachritz says efforts will be made to force the railway company to furnish cars at lower figures than those requested.

"The high cost of labor is advanced as an excuse for the increase," he said, "but even if a percentage of increase, far ahead of what the employees have received, is admitted in the charge, there still remains an excess profit of more than 200 per cent. The varied scale of the company in its charges this year is based on the different distances the cars have to travel."

The first picnic will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. to the middle of June daily picnics are scheduled.

STATE BANK COMMISSIONER OVERRULED IN COLE CAMP CASE

Governor, Attorney-General and Treasurer, as Board of Appeals, Order Charter Issued to Bank.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—Gov. Gardner, Attorney-General McAllister and Treasurer Middlekamp, sitting as a board of appeals, overruled the action of C. F. Enright, State Bank Commissioner, today and directed him to issue a charter to the Farmers' Bank of Cole Camp. Enright's friends intimate he may resign as a result.

In the fight for the charter the incorporators of the bank charged that C. F. Enright, Deputy Bank Commissioner, a friend of officers and stockholders in a rival bank had been instrumental in denying the charter.

Enright backed up Uptegrove and when the incorporators applied from his decision he hired special counsel and appeared at the hearing to fight the appeal. He charged, before the board, that a majority of the 143 incorporators of the new bank had been disloyal to the Government in the war, and gave that as his reason for having refused the charter.

Otto Riemenschneider, prime mover in the new bank, proved to the board that he sold more Liberty bonds than any other man in Cole Camp and that he bought $109 worth himself, though his annual income was only $1350.

17 MEN ARRESTED IN GAMBLING RAID RELEASED

Jimmy Miles' Son Among Those Taken at Sixth Ward Democratic Club.

Seventeen men, who were arrested last night at 11:45 o'clock at 16A South Sixth street, known to the police as the headquarters of the Sixth Ward Democratic Club, in a raid by the police gambling squad, were released today for want of evidence that they were gambling.

Among them were James P. Miles Jr., 1226 Aubert avenue, son of Justice of the Peace Jimmy Miles, who gave his occupation as a broker, and James E. McGhee, 51 years old, 3507 Franklin avenue, who also said that he was a broker. He is, however, known to the police as "Big Jim" McGhee, who was arrested on Nov. 11 as leader of a gang which was about to get $40,000 on a fake horse race from Robert R. Collins of Treason, Mo., when the police frustrated the scheme. Prosecution of McGhee under a Federal charge of misuse of the mails failed.

The report of the gambling squad on the raid is that they were forced to "bump" a door on the lower floor of the building and found that it led to a sort of office in which they found McGhee. Apparently he pressed a buzzer which was found around the room above the door, when the policemen ascended the stairs, they found no one gambling. There were two pool tables in the room and the 16 men in the room were gathered about these tables.

FEW ORDERS FROM WORKING MEN IN HOUSING CAMPAIGN

Association Reports Applications Nearly All Ask for Hot-Water Heat and Hardwood Floors.

IMPROVED SITES ALSO DEMANDED

Sign on Lot at Twentieth and Destrehan Offering to Erect Residences Fails to Attract Buyers.

The Home and Housing Association, which was organized to invest $2,000,000 in modest cottages on cheap sites for sale at cost to workingmen, has found few workingmen who desire modest cottages on cheap sites. It has found that many workingmen's present conception of a home is one with hardwood floors, hot-water heat, on sites somewhere west of Grand avenue, which face paved streets, lined with grandiose sidewalks, well shaded with trees—specifications hardly compatible with cheapness.

This condition was stated to the Post-Dispatch today by Nelson Cunliff, secretary-manager of the Association, when his attention was called to a letter printed in the People's Column of yesterday's Post-Dispatch, in which "A Would-Be Home Owner," complained that the prices asked for sites at cost to workingmen would be read for sale and occupancy early in June.

The letter followed announcement by the Association—that the following six houses would be read for sale and occupancy early in June:

1204 McCausland avenue, six rooms, hot-water heat; $894.

1208 McCausland avenue, five rooms, hot-water heat; $785.

1210 McCausland avenue, five rooms, steam heat; $8120.

1212 McCausland avenue, five rooms, hot-air heat; $7845.

1216 McCausland avenue, five rooms, hot-water heat; $8293.

1220 McCausland avenue, six rooms, hot-air heat; $8748.

Hardwood Floors Demanded.

The Home and Housing Association selected about 20 types of houses, which it estimated would cost from $4000 upwards, at the rate of about $1000 a room. Cunliff said:

"However, this cost was as of Jan. 1 and since that date labor has gained pay increases which have advanced this cost. The Association invited applications for purchase, intending to be governed in the selection of the type of house first to be erected by the demand. Plenty of persons applied. Less than one-third of these were from persons commonly regarded as members of the working class. By far the great number of applications came from salesmen, salesmen, office men and others, the so-called middle class, who live in apartments and who now are suffering rent advances."

"We had virtually no applications for our $4000 houses. Plenty of persons came who desired $4000 houses, but when informed that houses for $4000 were houses without hardwood floors and with hot-air heat, the common calculation was, 'My wife wouldn't think of living in a house with hot-air heat, we want hot-water heat, or I must have hardwood floors, if nothing else.' By this demand that man be an applicant not for a $4000 house, but for a much higher-priced house. It must be remembered that prices quoted on our houses represent actual cost with no added profit."

Improved Sites Wanted.

"The demand from the men making $125 a month or thereabouts commonly was that the site for their homes must be in a desirable neighborhood on streets fairly improved and shaded. When the cost of a house is to be kept at $4000 the expenditure of no more than $18 a front foot for a lot is justified. Yet most home-seekers were asking for lots, the improvement on which, the city has found, costs an average of $16 a front foot."

"I have maintained for three months at Twentieth and Destrehan streets a sign informing passers that the Home and Housing Association will erect homes for purchasers thereon. We have not had one application for a home there. All home-seekers apparently want West End homes."

By the Associated Press.

SOME of the houses we have erected on McCausland avenue have cost about $5944 to construct and we are offering them at that price. Purchasers must pay cash.

chase requires a cash payment of 10 per cent, or $896, and subsequent monthly payments of about $75 for a period of 12 years. That is the cost of our payment plan. However, the association is ready to go even further to help citizens get homes. We will, in justifiable cases, accept a first mortgage for about 20 per cent of the cost price. This will have the effect of extending the period of payment beyond 12 years and making purchase easier. Our rule is that we will restrict purchasers in such fashion that the monthly payment required of them is no more than 27 per cent of their income.

"The association will undoubtedly erect one of each of the 20 types of houses selected. How many of each type subsequently will be erected will depend upon the demand. As it appears now, the demand is greater, not from the workingman, as expected, but from the present apartment dweller who is being forced out of his quarters by advancing rents. And the demand is not for $4000 houses, but for houses of a character that cannot, with the greatest economy, be erected at that cost."

The assessment was made in 1917 and was upheld by the State Board of Equalization, but the collector of Venice Township failed to levy on the capital stock and the real property was not enough to take care of the amount of the assessment.

DISGRACE TO DIE RICH, SAYS NATHAN STRAUS

Millionaire, 72, Soon to Go to Palestine to Aid in Restoration Work There.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—An ambition to die poor because "it is a disgrace for a man to die rich" was expressed yesterday by Nathan Straus, 72 years old, retired millionaire philanthropist.

It is criminal not to share with those who are poor and suffering," he added, "and the man who dies with world riches has failed in the greatest thing in life—his duty to the world."

If this hope is fulfilled he "shall be rich in happiness and in good works," Straus said. "There is no satisfaction in money alone. Food and home, work and play—they are for rich and poor alike, and I find that the only lasting satisfaction is in what you can do for the world," he declared.

Brotherhood of Man.

"Religion has never made any difference in my giving," continued Straus, "for the brotherhood of man is greater than creed or sect. I have given my fortune away once over, but I have given nine-tenths of this money to Christians, and only a tenth to those of my own faith. Where there is suffering, Jew and Christian are alike, and I have given irrespective of faith. I only hope that by so doing I may set an example to other men who are rich, that they may give also."

"Making money, you know, is a game, but money itself is of no value. I am now rich, but I have been very poor, for my family, whose home was in Georgia, lost all their money in the Civil War, and I began at the very bottom. When a man has acquired a certain sum, however, he cannot help but grow richer. Once you have more money than you need to live on, it begins to pile up, to accumulate. Then it is time, to begin giving."

Old Hebrew Saying.

"There is an old Hebrew saying, 'What you give in health is gold; what you give in sickness is silver, and what you give after death is iron.'"

"You see," Straus smiled, "I am trying to live on a gold basis."

"Since I believe this you cannot blame me for trying to get rid of my money. Of course, I want to help the Jews, my own people, and I am greatly interested in the Zionist movement to restore Palestine. I have just given $100,000 toward the general fund of the movement, and another $100,000 toward the medical research and health service department of the University of Jerusalem."

"With my wife, who helps me in all my charities, I shall sail on June 12 to visit Palestine, where we shall spend several months, aiding in the work there."

Rockefeller's Work.

"I believe there is no man who is doing more good for the world than John D. Rockefeller and his son. They understand the responsibility of wealth and know their duty to humanity. And I believe it is my greatest wish that I may aid them giving my riches. You see, I am now trying to get rid of my properties."

"Each year of the past six years since I retired from active business I have given away sums far larger than my income. Even now I shall have to sell property to raise the money for these pledged sums that I have made."

"And I hope that other rich men may do likewise. For then when they die they will be poor in the world's goods, but rich, very rich, in humanity. I believe it is my greatest wish that I may aid them giving my riches. You see, I am now trying to get rid of my properties."

Superintendent Notifies Board He Will Serve Until Expiration of Term in 1921 Without Increase.

Dr. John W. Withers, superintendent of instruction, announced to the Board of Education at its meeting last night that he would retain his position here until the expiration of his term, Feb. 13 next. For several weeks he had under consideration an offer of appointment as dean of the College of Education of New York University.

At a meeting of the Board of Education about two weeks ago a motion to increase his salary from $8,000 to $12,000 a year was introduced, and he asked that it be given immediate consideration, as within 24 hours he must decide whether he would accept the New York offer. The board deferred action on the motion for a salary increase, and later Dr. Withers announced that 19 days' additional time had been given to him to consider the New York offer.

School Problems Discussed.
In announcing his decision to remain in service here, Dr. Withers called attention to some of the school administration and extension problems which must be faced in the next few years. He pointed out that the school building program is falling behind, and described as a disgrace to St. Louis "the condition which makes it necessary to accommodate 5,000 children in portable buildings or in stores and residences rented by the board." By next fall, he said, 7,000 or 8,000 would have to depend on such accommodations. To put the schools "abreast of their needs," he said, it would be necessary to expend $10,000,000 of school funds in the next five years.

Dr. Withers said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he had purposely refrained from making a statement as to whether or not he had finally declined to accept the New York position. "From my decision to remain here the inference is clear that I have rejected the New York offer," he said. "There has been no understanding that the New York position will be held open for me until the expiration of my term here."

The text of Dr. Withers' statement to the board is as follows: "It is now almost three and one-half years since I was appointed as Superintendent of Instruction. Since I came into this office we have passed through, and, in fact, are still passing through the most trying and critical period in the whole history of American education. Never before has the St. Louis public school system been called upon to meet problems of such magnitude, such complexity, and extreme difficulty as those which we have had to face during this period."

Crisis Not Yet Passed.
"In spite of these difficulties the Board of Education and the people of this city have a right to be proud of the results that have been attained. But it is not of these results that I wish especially to speak. As I have already said the crisis for our public schools is by no means passed. There are problems immediately ahead quite as important and quite as difficult as any that we have thus far been called upon to solve. In fact, the years immediately ahead of us are destined, in my judgment, to be years of great achievement or of inglorious failure."

Our building program, as you know, is rapidly falling behind. We have not been, at any time during the last 20 years, worse off than we are today. Five thousand children now, and perhaps 7,000 or 8,000 next fall, accommodated in portable buildings or in residences or stores owned or rented by the board, is a disgrace to St. Louis, and should not much longer be tolerated. It will take $10,000,000 in school funds within the next five years to put us abreast of our needs in this respect. The necessity of having the public pass upon this question is one that must soon be met."

People Always Appreciative.
"The salaries of teachers have been increased five times in less than three years, amounting in all to approximately $2,148,000. Nothing more necessary or important than this has been accomplished by the board, but we must very soon find a way of permanently increasing the board's annual income if the greatly increasing cost of maintenance due to this and other causes is to be adequately met."

"The people of this city have always been sincerely appreciative of their public schools, but their pride in them has not always been based upon a sufficient knowledge of the facts. The problem of acquiring the whole people as far as possible with the real work and work of the schools and with the dangers that beset them is as important as any other problem just now."

"A satisfactory plan for a fuller utilization of the experience and training of our teachers in determining the policies of the Department of Instruction and in putting these policies into effect should be formed and put into operation. A more positive insistence on the faithful observance throughout the Department of Instruction of the provisions of rule 41 in regard to the supervision and administration of the department is also peculiarly important at this time. These and many other matters equally important demand the attention and the united effort of the Board of Education and its officers just now, if the excellence of our school system is to be maintained."

WHY NOT BUY your new car on a BUSINESS BASIS? When you buy a car you buy mileage. Mileage cost is proportionate with the initial cost of the car, repair charges, gasoline, oil and tire expense. The less the repair and operating cost, the less the cost per mile.

MR. W. A. GORE of 450 Fairview Av., Webster Groves, a Professor of the Madison School, owns a MONROE Roadster, purchased in 1916 at a cost of $620 delivered. MR. GORE states this car has been driven 57,000 miles, including two trips to the coast, three trips to New York and through the New England States. Mr. Gore says he has spent only $23.00 for repairs, averaged 22 miles to the gallon of gasoline, and tire mileage was phenomenal. Compare this performance with the records of some other car owners.

In Cutting the H. C. L.

Yes, we mean it. We'll do our share to break the backbone of high SHOE PRICES!

IN conjunction with other enterprising stores in several of the Eastern cities, we inaugurate Friday and continue indefinitely, a policy of merchandising that will bring footwear to you at prices of "bygone" days.

Our plan—it means cutting down our profit to the smallest possible margin—we shall practically "swap dollars" until the situation is relieved.

This is a bona fide and sincere statement of fact, not just an advertising stunt. We know the glad tidings will get an enthusiastic welcome from thousands of St. Louisans.

The co-operation of the public is asked. Verify by comparison the prices we shall name with those quoted on similar merchandise in this city, the state or the country, for that matter. Then buy where you can do best.

Here's a royal chance to shoe every member of the family for the entire Spring and Summer season at "old time" prices. Don't delay—start your shoe shopping here Friday.

Our new policy starts Friday. Lack of newspaper space will prohibit mentioning all items in any one advertisement, so watch our daily announcements. All items will be on sale every day beginning Friday.

member of the Board of Education
when I was appointed Superintendent of Instruction knows that I did not seek the position. I asked no man on the board or off of it to use his influence in securing my appointment. When the appointment was made I was more than a thousand miles away from St. Louis in the city of Newark where I had gone at the invitation of the New Jersey State Board of Education to survey the Normal Schools of that State. The telegram announcing my appointment stated that I had been the unanimous choice of the board.
After careful deliberation I wired the board my acceptance of the position.
In doing this I promised to give the board and the schools the best service of which I was capable for a period of four years. The term of my appointment will expire on Feb.
13, 1921."Recently there has come to me an invitation to accept the deanship of the College of Education of the University of New York, a very unusual opportunity and the type of work that appeals to me strongly.
The decision as to my acceptance or rejection of this offer has been postponed several times at my request.
In view of the university as well as the St. Louis schools, I have pondered the question long and hard until my duty seems to me now perfectly clear. In view of the obligation which I assumed when I accepted the superintendency, in view of the critical conditions now confronting the St. Louis schools, in view of the unwisdom, as pointed out by Lincoln of attempting to swap horses in the middle of a stream, I have decided to remain on the job until the expiration of the term for which I was appointed. In making this decision I realize fully that I may be, and probably am, sacrificing the greatest educational opportunity that will ever come to me, but at the same time I have the feeling of being faithful to what is to me a sacred trust. I am not playing false to a real and binding obligation."In announcing this decision I hope it is clearly understood that I am not asking the Board of Education to increase my salary nor am I asking for any promise of re-election when my term of service expires.
The decision of these matters must rest entirely with the board itself.
I am asking only that in attempting to solve the problems that are ahead of us, between now and Feb. 13, 1921, I shall have the good-will, the intelligent and united support and co-operation of the board and of the people. On so much at least I hope I may count. At the expiration of my period of appointment I shall have discharged to the best of my ability my obligation to the board.
The board will then be free to do what seems to it best and so will the Superintendent."Provisions of Rule 41.
Rule 41, referred to by Dr. Withers in his statement, provides that all questions or complaints about the administration of the schools shall be made direct to the Superintendent and not to any other official or to the Board of Education, except through the Superintendent.
A proposed amendment to the rules providing for the dismissal of teachers who are members of labor unions was not acted on by the board last night. It was laid over on motion of Richard F. Murphy, chairman of the Instruction Committee, who issued a statement in opposition to the amendment. In this he said the amendment was unnecessary as the charter of the board gives the Superintendent the power of appointing all teachers, subject only to their confirmation or rejection by the board. The board, he said, has no legal right to encroach on the appointing power of the Superintendent.He also objected to the amendment on the ground that it would set aside a class and brand it as ineligible for employment in the schools and that it would be unjust to the teachers because it would imply that they would go on a strike rather than consider the interests of the schools.The board appropriated $600 to be spent for a series of lectures at the Harris Teachers' College.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known
Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During those years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, 10c and 25c.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsoid, a natural oil shampoo, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

J. A. FARRELL SAYS

President of Steel Corporation Tells Foreign Trade Council World Is Eager for American Products.

"MUST PUSH TRADE OR FACE STAGNATION"

When War Demand Ends Nation Will Be Producing More Than She Can Consume.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—More than 2000 delegates from all parts of the United States and other commercial nations were assembled here today for the opening of the seventh annual convention of the national foreign trade council, which will extend for four days.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, opened the convention with an address on "The relation of our productive capacity to our foreign trade."

The general topic of the convention was "The effect of being a creditor nation."

The world offers vast opportunities for American enterprise, Farrell declared. His speech portrayed conditions in the United States as tending either to stagnation and business reverses due to overproduction, or to glowing prosperity following development of world trade channels.

Can Produce an Excess.
The abnormal demand upon American production during the war, he said, has been projected into the first years of peace because of the exhaustion of the world's reserve stocks.

"We shall be confronted," he said, "in a quite unmistakable way with the fact that we are able to produce more than we can sell at home. We shall face such an emergency for foreign trade as we never before experienced. Either we shall find markets abroad for the surplus of our industrial productivity or we shall cease to produce it, which is quite unthinkable. That way lies stagnation, unemployment and business reverses."

"But the world offers vast opportunities for American enterprise. Needs that have been restricted by jealous and discordant political parties, material development that has been checked by the insistence on narrow spheres of interest, will be governed in the future by broader and freer conception of international co-operation than has ever prevailed before."

World Being Reborn.
"There can be no question about the economic rebirth of the civilized world, for it is already in progress, even in places where industrial distress seems most acute and social disorganization most profound. Vast undeveloped portions of the world with fertile soil and cheap labor are entering upon a period of rapid development. They will help supply the rapidly increasing needs for food-stuffs and raw materials and they will, at the same time, furnish new markets for finished products."

"We may not be able to tell the extent or fix the exact direction of the forces that are about to change the face of the world, but we may face the future with confidence by the exercise of an intelligent foresight and by being ready to adjust ourselves to correct course of development."

"We must devote the same sustained and intelligent effort to international commerce that has produced such wonderful successes in our domestic trade."

"The development of our industrial productive capacity during the war, coupled with the changes in our national financial status, might, if unintelligently handled, be the forerunner of distress. But if only it be handled with intelligence and courage, there lies in it a vastly greater potentiality for general benefit through foreign trade."

FEES FOR THE USE OF PUBLIC

SCHOOL BUILDINGS DECIDED ON

The Board of Education last night adopted new rules to govern the wider use of school buildings, providing for the collection of fees, ranging from 75 cents for the use of a classroom in connection with the use of an auditorium to $1.50 for the use of the latter, to defray the expenses incidental to permitting such uses.

Since the plan permitting the use of school buildings by groups, organizations, associations, for public uses has been in existence, there has been no charge of any kind for such privileges. The new regulations, Supt. Withers said, were made because such charges are customary in other large cities.

The free use of buildings for other than school purposes will be granted only for meetings of teachers for professional purposes, meetings of pupils of the schools, meetings of parents or parent-teacher associations and meetings of regularly established social centers.

Withers said the schedule of prices is based on the actual cost of permitting their use. The outside use of the buildings has cost the board more than $1500 annually in the past.

In Charming New Summer Models

Eight Styles at $29.75 Sizes 34 to 44

A price exceptionally low for such Frocks as these.
WITH our determination to offer St. Louis women special Dress values this month our buyer went to New York to try to secure the much-wanted Georgette Crepe Frocks, that take on even an added desirability during Summer months.

This lot, so attractively priced, is the result of the trip—and the result of full co-operation from the New York manufacturer.

The following descriptions correspond by number with the illustrations:

- 1—Bodice with tiny box-plaited front. The gracefully cascaded overskirt is effectively beaded and embroidered in floss. It is finished with wide satin girdle—satin bound sleeves and neck.
- 2—Long sleeve model with bodice and paneled overskirt (over Georgette) elaborately beaded in chalk beads. Georgette girdle and cuffs are decorated with three rows of the beads.
- 3—Youthful plaited model with bodice over foulard; tucked sleeves, girdle and lower part of overskirt are of plain Georgette.
- 4—Features an unusually attractive panel design worked with cut beads and change stitch in embroidery. Cuffs are of two chic ruffles; girdle of Georgette.
- 5—Bugle and chalk beads, in striking border design—on bodice, sleeves and overskirt; crushed satin girdle.
- 6—Straightline model with narrow tie belt. The skirt is beautifully beaded in floral designs and clever motif—beaded sprays of flowers reaching from shoulder to hem. Sleeves also beaded.
- 7—Another straightline model has steel and bugle beads in iridescent colorings or bugle and crystal in white outlining floss embroidery in an especially charming design.
- 8—Features heavy round glass beads in a pleasing scroll design; a Georgette sash, with head tassels.

YOU will save money by taking advantage of this sale of slightly shopworn but fully guaranteed Kurtzmann Grand Pianos
at $895 $995 $1095

THE prices above mentioned are considerably less than the regular price for entirely new instruments. Yet to all purposes these are new instruments, they have been used only for concert work, mostly in our own Music Hall, or have become slightly shopworn from being used for demonstration purposes.

From a musical standpoint, each instrument is absolutely perfect and subject to our unlimited guarantee.

We believe the Kurtzmann to be one of the finest Pianos manufactured. It is made in a factory where the standard of quality has never been allowed to vary—and from the first Piano ever made therein, only the highest grade materials and workmanship obtainable were permitted to go into an instrument.

Our Payment Plan
Makes Buying Easy

We allow you to make a comparatively small initial payment after which you may divide the balance into thirty small monthly payments, allowing you two and one-half years in which to liquidate the obligation. All these months you have had full use of your Piano.

Insurance Clause Prevents Loss by Death

We provide for all contingencies; in the event of the death of the signer the balance of the obligation is automatically canceled and the instrument belongs to the beneficiaries in clear title.

Your Old Piano Is Worth Money

—For we will make a liberal allowance for it if same is applied toward payment for one of these instruments. Write, telephone or call at once and get full details about this liberal offer which is a feature of the May Sales.

YOUTH CONFESSES HE HELPED AUNT POISON PARENTS

Conspiracy Devised When They Refused to Permit Son's Marriage to His Mother's Sister.

By the Associated Press.
SALINA, Kan., May 12.—Based upon statements given him, he said, by Miss Stella Hyman, 29 years old, and her nephew, Lee Bunch, that Bunch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bunch, brother-in-law and sister of Miss Hyman, died a year and a half ago as a result of poison administered by Miss Hyman. County Attorney M. J. Healy of Lincoln County, today prepared to have warrants issued charging the two with murder.

According to the statements of Bunch and his aunt, as told by Healy, the alleged conspiracy to kill Mr. and Mrs. Bunch was devised because they refused to sanction the marriage of Miss Hyman and Lee Bunch. Edward Bunch also abused her, according to Miss Hyman's statement. The Bunches lived at Lincoln Center.

Lee Bunch's statement, made to Healy last night at Lincoln Center, near here, said Miss Hyman administered the poison in food given to the elder Bunches. She also gave poison to Miss Nancy Bunch, sister of Lee Bunch, according to the statement. The sister is a permanent invalid from the effects of the poison, according to physicians.

Both Miss Hyman and Lee Bunch are being held in jail here.

In her statement, the County Attorney said, Miss Hyman declared she placed fly poison in coffee and other food that the Bunches drank and ate.

Her motive for the crime, she said, was to have to tell, that she was the mother of a child of which Lee Bunch, son of the couple she killed, was the father, and that the young man's parents would not let him marry her. She said also that her sister and brother-in-law abused her. Miss Hyman said she poisoned Mrs. Bunch first.

The poison was administered to Mrs. Bunch sometime between July 21 and 25, 1918, Miss Hyman said. She died Aug. 1. After his return from the funeral, Bunch continued his abuse, according to Miss Hyman. "I thought I might as well kill him as to have him kill me," her statement says, after saying that he used a revolver in threatening her.

On Aug. 14, Bunch died. Because of the similarity of the symptoms preceding the two deaths, an inquest was held. Since that time, Healy said, officers have been working quietly on the case. Monday Miss Hyman and Lee Bunch were arrested and are being held on charges of investigation. Yesterday they confessed.

Nancy Bunch, the daughter, still is confined to her bed because of the poison.

Lee Bunch, the son, who is 21 years old, in a signed statement to the County Attorney, said the young woman had told him of her intention to poison his parents and after their death told him of her intention to poison his sister.

KNOX PEACE PLAN FUTILE SUBSTITUTE, SAYS HITCHCOCK

Democrat, in Attack in Senate on Resolution, Declares It Inconsistent and Inimical to Treaty.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 12.—Democratic attack upon the Republican peace resolution was launched today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, administration spokesman, who declared, in addressing the Senate, that the measure was futile and inconsistent and inimical to the treaty of Versailles.

Similar Resolutions Abandoned. Hitchcock cited similar resolutions which, he said, had been sponsored since last November by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, author of the pending resolution. The latter, Hitchcock said, is the fifth peace resolution offered by the Republican leadership.

"In reaching this important conclusion," he said, "the supporters of the novel plan have staggered from side to side over a zigzag course for nearly six months."

Senator Hitchcock denied that Congress has the power to make peace, although it has authority to declare war. The states voted unanimously against giving Congress peace-making jurisdiction, he said.

Knox' recent argument that the war actually was at an end was passed summarily by Hitchcock, who conceded the point and asked: "Then, why this resolution? Hostilities ceased 18 months ago and our army was promptly demobilized and reduced to a peace basis. Since that time commerce has been resumed. We have sold hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of products to Germany and purchased much from her. The war which the Senator from Pennsylvania proposes to end by this resolution does not by his own admission exist. His able arguments and historical citations prove that it ended many months ago."

Substitute for the Treaty. "What then is the Senator from Pennsylvania attempting to do by this measure, which he calls a resolution to terminate the war? He is making an utterly futile and hopeless attempt to make a peace settlement with Germany to take the place of the Versailles treaty."

The pending resolution, Hitchcock asserted, is chiefly the work of Senator Knox, "although it abandons some of the proposals in his earlier attempts at a peace resolution."

"Instead of declaring peace," he said, "the Knox resolution declares the war at an end. Thus we have raised the interesting distinction between declaring peace and declaring war at an end. What is the difference?"

The peace resolution adopted by the House last month was denounced, especially by Hitchcock, because of its proposals for an embargo against Germany within 45 days in event of German objections to the resolution and its provision for reserving rights under the treaty.

"In the House resolution," he said, "we demand the benefits of the treaty which we have refused to ratify."

Reviewing the course of other peace resolutions, Hitchcock said a previous resolution by Senator Knox was "abandoned on the Senate doorstep like its predecessors."

Felt Growing Responsibility. "But the effort to do something to escape from the constitutional method of making peace was not abandoned," he continued. "Something had to be done. Intransigent statesmen who had refused all efforts to reach an agreement or compromise on the peace treaty felt the growing responsibility."

House Republicans, Hitchcock charged, were called into conference and the House action arranged, although he declared that the House never had been permitted a voice in peace proceedings previously. Hitchcock said, there was a sudden change of plans and the present resolution was drafted as a futile plan for Republican endorsement.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it falls, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound, which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

MEYERS TESTIFIES HE NEVER ABUSED BOY

Farmer on Trial for Mistreatment Says He Punished Lad
Only With Razor Strop.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MONTGOMERY, Mo., May 12.—
Guss Meyers, on trial here on a charge of mistreating Raymond Van Dyck, 8 years old, who died in the St. Louis City Hospital, testified in his own defense late this afternoon.

Meyers said that the boy was well fed and at his home, and that his clothing was as good as he could afford to purchase. He said he had punished the boy several times with a razor strop, but said he had never pulled the boy's ears and that the bruise on the boy's hip was caused by a fall.

He said the boy had a bath nearly every Saturday, and sometimes on Sunday.

The defense then closed, after having examined 17 witnesses.

The State offered no rebuttal testimony and the case closed at 3 o'clock. The arguments will be brief.

The State rested its case late yesterday afternoon, having put 15 witnesses on the stand without having shown that assault had been committed by Meyers. Although the Court ruled that statements by Raymond to his father and others shortly after his arrival in St. Louis, on Feb. 7, were admissible, the prosecution did not elicit that accusations of assault had been made by Raymond.

A demurrer of the defense that an insufficient case had been made to go to the jury was overruled. Judge Carr said, however, that he saw no evidence of assault. The boy died of rapid consumption at the St. Louis City Hospital Feb. 22, and Meyers was arrested two days later on a warrant charging mistreatment and neglect of Raymond, who had been taken by Meyers to rear. The witnesses for the defense told of Meyers' past good citizenship and of Raymond's emaciated condition when he went to Meyers' farm. A night session was held.

A mistrial was threatened during the afternoon when a juror, J. K.
Rogers, 84 years old, became ill and was examined by a physician. After an hour the case continued.

James A. Van Dyck, 2223 Franklin avenue, St. Louis, father of the boy, continued his testimony for the State, and was allowed to tell that Raymond had said Feb. 10 at the hospital that he had not been given enough to eat by Meyers and that his teeth were broken from eating corn. He said Raymond told him Meyers once sent him to the mail box, three-quarters of a mile away, and ordered him to hurry, and that Raymond said he had to remove his shoes in order to run.

Kimball Clark, a negro living near Meyers' farm in Montgomery County, told of lending his saddle to Meyers on Feb. 7, the day Meyers took Raymond to Portland, Mo., to send him to St. Louis. He said Meyers did not, and that Raymond said he was cold. He said Meyers rode the saddle and Raymond sat on a folded tarpaulin behind him which was tucked up to his hips.

Others who saw Raymond at Portland before he boarded the St. Louis train testified that he shivered and looked sick, and the train brakeman and porter told of their kindness to the boy. Mrs. Mary Sullivan, matron at Union Station, told of receiving Raymond there. He complained of pain, and she inquired about the trouble. "I was beaten with a board," she said he replied, and said he indicated a board about three inches wide. He told her his ears had been pulled, and exhibited sores on them,
and his teeth were partly missing, she said. The prosecution did not ask her to say whom Raymond blamed for these assaults.

"Y" OPENS $250,000 CAMPAIGN

The St. Louis Y. M. C. A. this morning began a campaign for $250,- 000 to meet present obligations and carry on the work during the year.
Frank C. Rand, M. L. Wilkinson,
Lansing F. Smith, Louis Beeger, W.
A. Lippman and F. W. Amack are heads of the division. The organization has made no campaign for current expenses since May, 1918, although its program in this city has been greatly enlarged.

Two new buildings were dedicated last year: the North Side at Grand and Sullivan avenues and the Pine street department for negroes at Pine street and Ewing avenue. The Jewish Alliance Building at Ninth and Carr street was purchased as a center for the industrial program.
The membership has increased from 4000 to 5123 during the year.

THREE MEN LURED IN ICE BOX

A man described as "well dressed," with high cheek bones and carrying a revolver, walked into the soft drink stand of Leo Unterberger, 2250 Washington avenue, at 9:05 p. m.
yesterday and ordered Unterberger and two customers into the ice box.
As Unterberger led the way he was stopped and $44 taken from him.
After locking the trio in the box
the robber searched an open safe, taking $50, and from the cash register took $36. The three were in the cooler half an hour before a gun entered and heard their rapping on the locked door and released them.

FINED $500 FOR LIQUOR SALE

Gus Delano, proprietor of a saloon at 708 High street, was fined $500 and costs today by Federal Judge Farr upon his plea of guilty to a charge of sale of intoxicating liquor, last Friday.

JUDGMENT IN MILL CREEK CASE

A judgment for $321.83 on two special tax bills for the Mill Creek sewer was given yesterday against Bernard P. Hogg of 5943 Maple avenue by Circuit Judge Davis. Payment was required on the theory that the bills were valid. They were assessed against property owned by the defendant on Finney avenue and on Eugenia street. This property is within the "benefit district."

There are 150 other suits pending against property owners who have refused to pay the tax and about $500 more to be filed, totaling approximately $150,000. It was stated by David Baron, attorney for Charles W. Bates, plaintiff in the litigation. The bills were assigned to Bates by the Carter Construction Co., which had the contract for building the sewer. Baron said 29,000 tax bills amounting to $3,000,000 were issued against property owners on account of the sewer and only comparatively few have refused to pay.

ENGINEERS TO QUIZ NATIONAL CANDIDATES

Six Questions Framed for Aspirants to Presidency by Convention.

Six questions for answer by presidential candidates were adopted yesterday by the American Association of Engineers in final session of a two-day convention in the Planters Hotel. They concern whether the candidate favors the consolidation of Federal engineering bureaus into a Department of Public Works, the appointment of an engineer to the Interstate Commerce Commission, a program of conservation and development of natural resources, the budget system of appropriations, the reclamation of waste lands and the rotating fund plan for the assistance of settlers in getting possession of land.

Other resolutions were an appeal to New Jersey to ratify woman suffrage. Indorsement of the $60,000,000 good roads program in Missouri and adherence by public officials, state and national, to the regulations of the civil service. An effort to obtain indorsement for universal military training failed of passage, though no record vote was taken.

"Spain is the most attractive field of all European countries," said Fred Lavis, president of the International Corporation of New York, last night at the annual banquet at the Planters Hotel. Lavis' topic was the opportunities of American engineers in foreign fields. He said that Great Britain already was rapidly beginning manufacture, and that America, whether it would or not, was too influential to stay out of participation in world affairs.

F. H. Newell, the retiring president, reviewed the work of the association and predicted its membership soon would be 100,000. Sherman, the new president, announced as the new vice president, C. E. Drayer was reappointed secretary. The association meets next year at Buffalo, N. Y.

W. H. GARANFLO, BANKER AND FORMER MISSOURIAN, PARDONED

Head of Little Rock Institution Was Convicted of Carrying Excessive Deposits.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 12.—News was received here yesterday that President Wilson had pardoned W. H. Garanflo, former president of the State National Bank of Little Rock, who has served more than two years of a five-year term in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. He was convicted of carrying excessive deposits in violation of the Federal banking laws.

Garanflo was a banker of Southeast Missouri for about 25 years and is well known in St. Louis business circles. He was Postmaster of New Madrid, Mo., several terms and was a member of the board of the Cape Girardeau State Normal.

He went to Little Rock and became president of the State National Bank, which went into receivership in 1914. The bank, under the receivership, paid dollar for dollar and 6 per cent interest to all depositors, and the receiver also turned over a large amount of money to the stockholders.

Garanflo's pardon was recommended by John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, and his statement set forth that the charges against Garanflo were technical and that the records did not indicate that he had profited in any way. A petition signed by the Arkansas Supreme Court Judges and other influential citizens of the State was sent to the Department of Justice and to the President.

REED DENIES CONDONING SINKING OF LUSITANIA

Senator Says Statement That He Did So Is Untrue—Quotes
His Speeches.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Senator Reed today gave to newspapers for publication a statement denying the truth of the assertion of Col. Francis M. Curlee of St. Louis in a speech before the Democratic State Convention in Joplin that Reed had "condoned the sinking of the Lusitania."

"Mr. Curlee's statement was not only untrue," the Senator said, "but opposed to my every feeling, act and utterance." He told of sending Postmaster Selph and Speed Mosby of Jefferson City to Curlee in Washington with a letter requesting that Curlee state the time and place he had made the statement attributed to him, and that Curlee had refused to reply to the letter.

"I have repeatedly and bitterly denounced the sinking of the Lusitania," the Senator continued. "I have done so in more than 100 speeches, for there was scarcely a speech made by me in the campaign of 1916 in which I did not speak of the frightful atrocity and condemn it in unmistakable terms."

"Fortunately for me, with men of the Curlee type running at large, many of my public utterances were recorded in the Congressional Record, as well as frequently printed in the public press."

Remained Neutral at Sinking.
Setting out that the Lusitania was sunk May 7, 1915, he accounted for the fact that he did not denounce the sinking immediately afterward by recalling that the President had cautioned that the country remain "neutral in thought as well as in deed."

In the fall of 1915, he said, the President sharply called Germany to account, and shortly afterward Reed said he addressed an audience in Milwaukee, and in his speech said:

"Germany embarked upon a policy which violated every principle of international law, every mandate of divine law. Instead of capturing vessels, she proceeded to send them to the bottom of the ocean. Her submarines lay in wait and without even giving passengers a reasonable opportunity to take to their boats and trust themselves to the dangers of the deep, sent them to the bottom without the chance of escape."

Repeated Speech, He Says.
Referring to the protest of the United States, the Senator said to the audience: "I say without equivocation that the German native or foreign born who now protests against this act of our Government is not a good citizen of the United States, and ought not to be permitted to live under her flag."

He said he repeated his Milwaukee speech at a meeting of the Tower Grove Turnverein Oct. 11, 1915, and in the Senate March 3, 1917, supported the resolution giving the President authority to arm merchant ships.

He said he was one of the signers of a round robin, signed by 75 Senators, March 4, 1917, favoring the ship-arming measure.

April 4, 1917, he said he supported the Declaration of War in the Senate. Oct. 3, 1918, speaking at a Liberty Loan meeting at the Liberty Theater in St. Louis, he "gave a picture of the German military soul," in which he drew a picture of the horrors of the sinking of the Lusitania and denounced the act.

"Wickedness of Sinking."
He repeated the speech, he said, in the Senate Nov. 11, 1919, and the following day, discussing the policy of neutrality, denounced "the conspiracies of the German Government that had already been unearthed, the manifest wrongs that had been perpetrated upon our commerce, the wickedness of the sinking of the Lusitania."

These, the Senator said, were only a few of many instances in which he had spoken in denunciation of the sinking of the Lusitania and other acts of the German.

Why Ar-lon Is a Wonderful Stomach Medicine

FIRST—Ar-lon promotes the secretion of the salivary glands which is the first aid to digestion.

SECOND—Ar-lon temporarily retards the secretion of acid and it neutralizes and absorbs the excess acid that is already in the stomach.

THIRD—Ar-lon increases the motor function of the stomach, bringing about a better mixing of the food.

FOURTH—Ar-lon stimulates

"DON" ENGLISH COMEDY GIVEN BY PLAYERS

James T. Drummond and Mrs.
Herbert Cost Please With Interpretations.

The Players did "Don," an English comedy in three acts by Rudolph Besler, at the Artists' Guild Theater last night before members of the club. The impression that amateurs cannot sustain three-act plays is fast giving way at the little theater, and it was not justified by this performance.

It is absurd to call much of the work done in the little theater amateur acting, since that implies inexperience where many of the players have had a great deal. Neither James T. Drummond nor Mrs. Herbert Cost did any amateur acting in the performance last night. Drummond's characterization of a somewhat worm-eaten religious zealot, whose wife fled from him because of his insistence upon bending her to his own faith, was much better acting than one usually sees in professional theaters.

Don was a young man, whose manner of doing what he felt to be natural and humane occasioned great pain to the conventional circle in which everything at once loved him and feared for what he might do next. He justified both sentiments at last by bringing to the home of his parents the wife of his father who was not treating him as he had been a protegee of his since he had rescued her from a life in a restaurant where she was employed as a waitress.
Don's father was an English prelate. One may imagine the scene when the dominie and his wife received a letter from the injured Tompsett appraising them that their son had just run off with his wife. It was when Tompsett came for Mrs. Tompsett, fetching his gun, that Drummond lifted the play to a plane above amateurism.

The Players' Club is now nine years old. It has a membership of some 250, and gives plays and readings of plays in the little theater and the Guild crypt. It is emerging as all the little theater organizations in the city are, out of lesser things and aspiring to more difficult work. The performance last night was directed by Mrs. Archer O'Reilly. Edgar Roy played Don, and he offset at times with the charm of youth, his inadequate training as compared with older players. Miss Mavis Chubb did a quite gentle and pretty bit of work as Don's sweetheart, who believed in him despite all things.
Mrs. William Schevill and Samuel P.
Goddard were the parents of Don,
and Mrs. G. O. Carpenter Jr. and Albert H. Bruggemann were the parents of Don's sweetheart. Mrs.
Cost played Mrs. Tompsett, and Miss Mary Lee had the part of a maid.
Bruggemann, whose characterizations are among the best seen in the little theater, made the part of Gen.
Sinclair dominate the stage most of the time he was on. The performance last night ended the Players' season.

MISSING ENVOY BEATEN TO DEATH

M. Krahovsky, Reported Murdered by Hungarians.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 12.—According to a Bucharest message to Reuter's Agency, M. Krahovsky, who was reported to have disappeared while attending a meeting of the Interallied Commission at Belkes-Czaba, Hungary, was imprisoned by the Hungarians, and so severely beaten that he died on April 23.

The murder was attributed to attempts Krahovsky made to secure a union of Czechoslovakia with Hungary. According to the correspondent Krahovsky was in Hungary under protection of the Interallied Commission, and attended the peace conference in London as a Slovak delegate.

FRANCE MOVES TO END FEDERATION OF LABOR

Government Holds It Aids Revolutionary Movement by Making Strikes Political Issue.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, May 11.—The French Government today took the first step to stamp out the revolutionary movement by deciding to seek the dissolution of the General Federation of Labor on the ground that it has violated the law under which it was organized by openly advocating nationalization of the railroads and other measures, thus making the issue of the present epidemic of strikes political instead of economic. Immediately after the Cabinet meeting at which the Minister of Justice was instructed to prepare the necessary procedure, Premier Millerand called in the press representatives and outlined the Government's plan. While it is too soon to judge the consequences of this drastic action, the fear is expressed that the Government's challenge to the federation will be misconstrued as a challenge to the workers themselves, and precipitate a general strike which the leaders themselves have until now been vainly trying to bring about.

Premier Millerand and the Cabinet are said to be confident the workers will back up the Government, as the mass of them are disgusted with the efforts of their leaders to paralyze industry and commerce at their expense for their own selfish political ends.

Following promptly the Government's dictum, secret service agents called at 211 Rue Lafayette, the new headquarters of the federation's executive committee. A few documents were seized and the doors were sealed.

At the permanent headquarters, Rue Grange aux Belles, both leaders and members of unions appeared unconcerned. Secretary Jothaux said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent: "The Government's action is not at all legal. If anything, it will have the effect of drawing the workers closer together. Our strikes are a success, despite Government denials. Let me ask you to send the French Confederation's greetings to the American Federation of Labor."

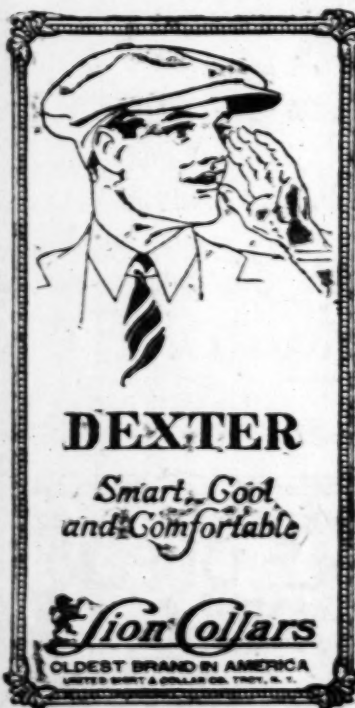

Lobbies full of police are circulating around the Federation headquarters. So far there appears to be no question of raiding the building, but it is thought this will be done very soon. According to law it must be done in the daylight.

ACQUITTED OF TIRE THEFT

William Crowe Was Charged With Stealing Last August.

William Crowe, 22 years old, of 2959 Olive street, was acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Garesche's court of burglary and larceny with which he was charged in connection with the theft August 29 of 27 automobile tires from the Union Vulcanizing Co., 4826 Delmar boulevard.

Crowe had been convicted of robbery and given a five-year sentence in the same court Dec. 5, in connection with the theft of $45 from the safe of the Hannibal Ice & Fuel Co., Grand avenue and Hebert street, Sept. 3 last. Later Joseph Henry, in jail at the time, and who since has received sentences aggregating 35 years for various offenses, confessed that Crowe had not robbed the ice company, but that Henry and two companions had committed the robbery. Proceedings now are under way to set aside the conviction of Crowe, who is at liberty on bond.

INFORMAL TEAS FOR CHILDREN'S AID WORK

Well-Known Women Help in Campaign for Funds for Neglected Children.

A NUMBER of small informal teas are being given this week by well-known women, which are in the nature of conferences for those who give time to appeal for funds for the Children's Aid Society. Money is urgently needed for the work the organization does among deserted, sick, neglected and ill-treated children of St. Louis, and the women are making a plea that as generous a response be made for the children of St. Louis as has been made for the suffering little ones in other lands. The Children's Aid places children in carefully investigated private homes, where their board is paid, their clothing supplied, and where they have all the joys and happiness of members of a family.

Among the women working for the Children's Aid Society appeal are: Mrs. George C. Hitchcock, Guido Pantaleoni, Charles Nagel, Theron Catlin, Elias Michael, Greenfield Sluiter, C. R. D. Meier, Sidney Schwab, Tom Francis, Leo De Smet, Carlton Louis Brooks, Wade Childress, Lee Hildebrand, F. B. Eiseman, Marion C. Blossom, S. B. McPheeters, Claude Matthews, Talton Francis, George T. Moore and H. N. Spencer.

What does the Bond mean?

On every Bond Bread wrapper there is a "bond"—a certificate which says that only pure
"home" ingredients are used in Bond Bread.

The bond of the company stands back of that guarantee—that is why this bread is called Bond Bread.

Yes—it's made of the purest
"home" ingredients—and made the way the housewives showed us.

Bond Bread is so named because each loaf bears this bond of the General
Baking Company.

"tastes good as cake
at bed-time"

Bed-time—the children's hour—when the little girl's prattle is music—and the laddy's laugh is like a memory of your youth.

The children have been out playing all afternoon—their cheeks are rosy—they are hungry. What will you feed them before they snuggle off to the land of Happy Dreams?

Something that will build energy
—and bone—and body—Bond Bread and milk! For food like that will digest, even if the kiddies go to bed right away.

And gladly and heartily they will eat what is good for them—if it's Bond Bread and milk.
They'll love it like cake and ask for another slice.

PRICES OF FURS DECLINE 20 TO 35 PER CENT AT SALE

Readjustment to Basis Nearer Last Year's Values Noted at Exchange.

Prices on furs continued to decline from the extraordinary February level at the second day's auction yesterday in the International Fur Exchange. Badger fell 10 per cent, house cat 30 per cent, blue fox 25 per cent, white fox 25 per cent, cross fox 25 per cent, and squirrels 20 per cent.

The prices represent a readjustment to a basis of value nearer that of last year, compared with the unprecedented February basis, according to George H. Herzog, vice president of the exchange. He added the opinion that, in view of conditions of tight money, the market was well sustained.

Today's offerings are 2000 bear skins, including 11 polar bear skins, 2475 hair seal, 250 mountain lion, 56 leopard cats, 4600 reindeer and 550,000 opossum.

The small number of wolverine skins, 106, at the sale yesterday recalled that the State of Michigan became known as the Wolverine State because of the large number of wolverines within it. The wolverine treats before the farmer, giving away to the skunk, fox and weasel, and has retreated from the United States until now it is found in the mountains only in Northern Canada.

The Food Supply of the Future

AUTHORITIES agree that the food supply of the future depends upon the increased use of mechanical power on the farm. The tractor, motor truck, stationary gas engine, and the automobile, all dependent upon cheap, efficient motor fuel, have multiplied the efficiency of human labor, thereby increasing the acreage a man can handle.

In 1919 farmers owned 3,900,465 of the 7,523,664 automotive vehicles registered in the United States. These figures give a fair idea of the use being made of motor vehicles in producing and distributing food products.

There is no more prolific food producing area in the world than the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

To serve the farmers of the Middle West is a major part of the Standard Oil Company's business. For that reason the dark, green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is recognized by the farmer as serving an indispensable need in promoting the increase of food products.

Thousands of these tank wagons travel continuously, on schedule, throughout the 11 states of the Middle West, served by this Company.

During the busy season, when the farmer needs power most, this Company delivers gasoline even to the tractors in the field. Rain or shine, these wagons are on duty to help make certain that the nation's food supply shall be planted, harvested, and delivered on time.

To enable the farmer of modest means to utilize automotive machinery in cultivating an increased acreage at a lower cost per acre, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) strives constantly to keep down the price of gasoline by increasingly efficient refining methods, and to expand and perfect its comprehensive system of distribution.

"Call money on the Stock Exchange reached 10 per cent again today, and the stock market responded as usual by a decline in prices. The higher money rate may have been caused primarily by the Government's preparation for a large interest payment, due on one of the war loans next Saturday. But the whole money situation was partly influenced and partly reflected by a new offer of six months Treasury bills by the Government at 5 1/2 per cent. This is a very substantial advance over the rate of 5 to 5 1/4 per cent offered on three and six months' bills as late as April 17. This steadily advancing bid for money by the Government is the surest possible indication of the state of the general credit market."

"Without any great activity, prices on the Stock Exchange fell steadily during the morning session of the day's business. Declines were not large as a rule, though there were some losses of 3 to 6 points, and a few stocks were bid up above yesterday's prices."

"But the market's trend as the day went on was decidedly downward, and the whole market was well moderated by the end of the day."

Mark Above Two Cents.
"Having moved in favor of Europe yesterday, foreign exchange today moderately against it. Today, the rate on Berlin, however, went above 2 cents per mark again, after falling temporarily below that figure. It was again made evident how completely the German currency situation fails to affect the present minor fluctuations of exchange rates."

"Under date of April 30, the Reichsbank's statement shows increase for the preceding week of more than $427,000,000 in outstanding circulating notes; the increase of the whole of April being $492,000,000, and the increase since the end of last December $2,040,000,000."

"Paris exchange on London, which rose from 43 francs 2 centimes at the end of February to 47.10 on April 12 (parity being 48.25) and which has since then been falling steadily, reached 46.30 today. Evidently a very large payment from Paris to London through exchange drafts—either on account of French indebtedness to England or in connection with loan maturities—in connection with the present has been completed."

Congestion Affects Steel.
"An interesting commentary on the Steel Corporation's report of an increase of 467,000 tons in orders on its books last month, is contained in the Iron Age's statement of a holdup in the steel market. The Iron Age states that the steel market is generally suffering from lack of material as at the present time."

"It is the transportation system which is making trouble, especially the strike on the railway which brings the steel from the blast furnaces to the open market. The Iron Age estimates that a million tons of finished steel are loaded on side-tracks and cars or stored in yards and yards. Some works have actually had to shut down because of this accumulation of material."

"Since output of steel ingots in April averaged 120,760 tons per day as against 145,000 in March, it is possibly safe to infer that the large April increase in unfilled orders was due more to inability to effect delivery than to actual expansion of demand. In the open market a sale of 100,000 tons of iron to Germany is reported, apparently the first since the war began. One would like to know in just what way it is to be settled for."

ST. LOUIS STOCKS

Local Bank Clearings
Today ..... $27,766,121

Prices were easier on the St. Louis Stock Exchange today. The demand for securities was moderate.

The reaction in prices is ascribed to curtailment of loans by banks, necessitating reduction of loans by holders of securities. The following is a list of sales made, the prices being the last sales of the day, or the last previous sales of record.

CURB MARKET REACTS AFTER FIRM OPENING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 12.—For about an hour after the opening today the curb market was fairly active and firm, due to buying orders from Insiders and covering of shorts by the professional element. Later, however, the market became reactionary and declines ranging from fractions to a point or more were established.

Tropical Oil was one of the leaders, securing an early advance of 1 1/2 points, but losing the greater part of the gain on profit-taking sales. Simms rose a fraction and then yielded about a point and reactions from the highest was shown in White, Merritt, Salt Creek and many others.

Wall Street News and Comment SPECIAL DAILY

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 12.—With few exceptions the stock list was heavy this morning from the start. The movement was very uneven, but in certain groups were definitely weak, revealing a light demand on the way down, there were others in which the resistance was decidedly greater. These latter sagged off but with sufficient reluctance to indicate that they were being well taken as they were offered. As has been the case yesterday, the weakest stocks were the motors and the motor accessories on the one hand and the so-called "inventory" shares on the other. The selling in the motors was influenced, in addition to the belief that the motor industry has reached the peak, by this morning's report that the coming conference between bank representatives, the Federal Reserve board and the secretary of the Treasury would adopt a policy of restriction upon loans to non-metallic industries, that is, to the producers of luxuries.

Walls with the course of the day there seemed reason not to accept this report unreservedly. It did play a part in speculative calculations. In the case of the motor and related issues, the selling got into the stocks of other companies which might be affected by the action, and the credit situation and of the high cost of living. Among these stocks were Famous Players and Loew's, Inc. The inventory shares—that is, those which would have to adjust their inventory accounts radically if there was a general fall in prices—included American Woolen, American Hide and Leather, and Central Leather.

The best resistance in the others was offered by the higher priced oils and especially the Pan-American. It was quite evident that the market for Pan-American was completely under the control of a powerful clique. The strength in these stocks imparted steadiness in the market for Royal Dutch and other members of the group.

Professional sentiment was very pessimistic, but it was admitted that business was not at all heavy on the decline. This was a sign that absence of support was the principal factor in the downward movement rather than the volume of actual liquidation. The pools and larger speculative interests are for the most part standing aside and letting bear traders press their advantage to the full.

The principal things discussed in connection with the downward movement were the prospects of a slowing down of business and the difficulty of solving the vexatious credit problem without resorting to violent measures, such as cutting down advances to non-metallic industries. At the same time the heavy Government withdrawals and the demands of interior banks have made the call money market uncomfortable and while there is no pressure upon Wall Street borrowers who are using very little credit these days, the money market is mounting. Also, the American Woolen Company carried large inventories and these are being turned into cash. Another thing which has hurt Woolen is the report that large cancellations for goods are reaching the textile trade.

Coden & Co.
Codens & Co. shares bounded forward on the announcement that the company for the quarter ended March 31 showed net earnings applicable to dividends of $2,500,000, while the net for 1931, after deducting all dividends and approximately $1,000,000, was $1,500,000. Codens at the close of 1931 had a production of approximately 1,100,000 barrels of oil. The company has a refining capacity of 25,000 barrels daily, turning out all products of crude oil. The company refined about 2,100,000 barrels of gasoline and naphtha in 1931, against 1,710,000 barrels in 1930.

The Coppers.
These who have been persistently bullish on the copper stocks have taken a stand in the last few days that the copper stocks have discounted the worst that may be expected. The average cost of copper produced in 1931 seems to have been about 17 1/2 cents and this shows a most modest profit at the present market of about 15 1/2 cents. Last year began with a condition of pronounced depression in the copper industry. Production was greatly curtailed to permit the working off of stocks accumulated during the war. During the year, however, domestic consumption increased until it is now in excess of any pre-war basis. The world depends on this country for 85 per cent of its supply. Production here is about the same as before the war. So nearly the entire production is going into domestic consumption, whereas before the war 50 per cent of our output was sent abroad. The stocks of metal held for war purposes in foreign countries are gradually being used up, so production must be stepped up in this country or the demand will be largely in excess of production. Japan is taking more than 10,000,000 pounds of copper monthly from the United States, whereas before the war she was exporting that much in competition with us. England is a heavy buyer here of copper in manufactured form. France has bought freely and made a great deal. Germany may be expected to buy for a large and continuous buying.

Northern Pacific Cfs.
The offering of $4,000,000 7 per cent, one to 10 year Northern Pacific equipment trust certificates met with the warmest response that has attended all other such offerings and which was especially marked in the case of the Pacific Fruit Express bonds. The Northern Pacific issue was subscribed for immediately and there will be no public offering except for purposes of record. There was active trading in all the other 7 per cent equipments and short term bonds, the feature in this group being the heavy transaction in the Pennsylvania 7 1/2 at around 101 1/2. In the general bond market there was a heavy bearing of 4 and 5 per cent under some pressure. Among the speculative bonds continued activity was noticed in the St. Louis & San Francisco 6 per cent incomes. These bonds at 95 1/2 return 13 per cent and the way things have been going there is a very large margin of safety. Liberty bonds were generally unchanged.

American Woolen.
The weakness in American Woolen was attributed directly to the news that Government experts from the Department of Justice were looking over the company's books in an effort to find if the woolen company had been profiteering. The cause of this investigation was the fact that American Woolen in the first period of this year had been close to a record quarter. The big profits in the first quarter were made from sales contracted for last year, when prices were mounting. Also, the American Woolen Company carried large inventories and these are being turned into cash. Another thing which has hurt Woolen is the report that large cancellations for goods are reaching the textile trade.

Lover's Reckoning

By John Fleming Wilson

WHEN old Rufus Hinstead gave young Henry Peckham the little steamer Rose of Avalon he received that debonair gentleman's curt thanks with a baffling smile. San Francisco's water front slapped Harry on the back and said he deserved to go as master of a nice packet and predicted a speedy promotion to a ship. But the newly made Capt. H. Peckham avoided friends and acquaintances and went aboard his new command to think about his future with a sinking heart. Hinstead was a man of his word. He had fulfilled his promise to his beloved daughter that he would give Harry a command. Without doubt he would carry out his other promise that she should never marry him. Cornelia Hinstead was very young, very good looking, and canny in her ability to learn the secrets of others and keep her own. Rufus was perfectly aware that Harry Peckham wanted to marry his daughter. He was utterly ignorant of the fact that that young woman was in love with Harry. He knew she liked him. Because the crabbed owner of the Merchants and Packers' line always went as far as he dared to gratify Cornelia's whims he had agreed to make Harry a skipper at the first opportunity. He did not know that Cornelia had sworn by the seven stars of the Lovers' Constellation that when Harry was a captain she would tell him whether she loved him or not. So he gruffly, in the most matter-of-fact way, promoted the young fellow and then proceeded to smash any hopes of marrying the heiress.

The Rose of Avalon lay in Oakland the morning Harry got his papers as her commander, and thereby his permission from Cornelia to come and ask her the great question. But where was she? This was the puzzle that Harry had to solve, and he went at it just as he had gone about wooing her in the brief days at Honolulu—wasting not a moment.

"I might have known Rufus would behave that way," he told himself as he lit his pipe and sat down by the big desk that was now his and stared at the dark cabin which was home. "He cables me to quit the Sea Dog and come up to take a ship. He gives me the ship and sees to it the Cornelia is nowhere around. I must find her."

Finding her, he knew, would be no easy task. Rufus Hinstead traded to any and all ports, had business connections and society friends in every part of the world, and doubtless had sent Cornelia far enough away to make it impossible for the new captain of the Rose of Avalon to communicate with her.

"If she's in Alaska, I'll have a cargo for Singapore," he mused. "If she's visiting the Neales in Hongkong, I'll be Balboa for mine. If she's down in Valparaiso I'll find myself bound for Shanghai."

He thought this over for a couple of hours, then proceeded about his business. In due course Cornelia would learn of his rise in life, recognize its significance, and give him his opportunity.

As has been stated, that young lady knew how to keep her own secrets. She had successfully concealed from this assiduous suitor the fact that she cared for him. Her dealings had been on the level basis of friendship. True, she had made Harry feel that he was her chosen friend; she had even (in parting) allowed him to discuss a future that might bring a change, the ardently desired change, in their relations. It was on these scanty facts that he counted so confidently.

The Rose of Avalon loaded general cargo for Nome, came back with Government stuff, unloaded and took on a cargo of machinery for Quito. Still Harry Peckham had gained no clew to Cornelia's whereabouts. A letter written from Nome was quietly returned to him. A cable he had sent to the Neales, friends of the Hinsteads for many years in Hongkong, elicited a curt denial of any knowledge of Miss Hinstead's whereabouts.

In Quito, after wrestling with strange methods of transportation and doing odd feats of business for the Merchants and Packers', Capt. Peckham sat down and did a bold thing. He wrote a formal letter to old Rufus Hinstead himself and asked permission to pay his addresses to Cornelia. He mailed this epistle via New York, got back to steamer and sailed as ordered to Asuncion. Eleven weeks later he berthed the Rose of Avalon in San Francisco and went to the office, on tiptoe, to learn what reply Rufus had ready to his letter.

Hinstead was away, he discovered. No one knew or cared to tell where he was gone. In three days Harry found nothing further about either Cornelia or her father, spent a wretched 24 hours sitting on the bench below Sutter Heights and went back to his job with an expression of weary ache in his usually bright eyes.

His chief engineer bluntly told him to take "You're young yet, cap'n," said the experienced mechanic, "and you let things run hot. You look a rotten 35 and you are only 26. Cut out the high living. Old Hinstead likes his young skippers to stay young."

"Where the dickens is the old man?" Peckham demanded.

The engineer cocked an eye at the great blowing clouds in the sky and shook his head.

"They tell me he's off on a jaunt somewhere," was his reply. "But Henderson on the Curlew told me he put Rufus aboard the Turbinia three days gone. So I reckon something down in the south needs attention."

"And we sail for Sitka tomorrow," growled Peckham.

The chief glanced at his commander with a gleam of frosty sympathy in his eyes. He seemed about to say further, thought better of it, and returned to his engines.

That night, seated in his lonely cabin, Harry Peckham faced the truth. He had relied on Cornelia's promise that when he got his ship she would listen to his suit and give him her answer. There could be no doubt that she knew he had fulfilled the condition she herself laid down—she was master of a steamer. Why hadn't she so much as let him know where she was? Why didn't she drop him a line to tell him she was glad? What did it mean that she had suddenly dropped out of his life? There could be but one explanation—she cared nothing for him and thought it easier to avoid him than to explain.

For a couple of hours he fought himself. He was discouraged. When all was said and done, he had worked these last two years for Cornelia. She had been always in his thoughts. He had reckoned constantly on her approval of his achievements. The two times he had displayed unusual determination, skill and daring, it had been for her sake. The encomiums he had received from hard-headed superiors were nothing. Now his purpose in life was gone. He was without a spur to his ambition. The prospect of getting a big ship—and never getting Cornelia—was ashes in his mouth.

But his natural manhood won the battle. He rose from his seat a matured, sober, unhappy man. Cornelia was gone out of his life. But work and honor and duty remained. He would play no coward, show no white feather. His love was clean and pure and honest. He would not disgrace it. If the lovely girl whom he had adored with such devotion had lightly slipped away to other friendships, had gone to tantalize and delight another lover, it should not be his fault if she recalled Harry Peckham without pride.

In this spirit he set about his work the next morning and got the Rose of Avalon speedily to sea. Two weeks later he brought her back and the chief engineer felt moved to confide to his ancient chum, the port superintendant, that young Harry Peckham had "taken hold."

"I always give Rufus credit for pickin' 'em right," he remarked. "But in this case I know you didn't exactly cotton to the notion of settin' a kid up on the bridge of the Rose and I figure that Rufus kind of did it to please Cornelia. For several voyages I thought Rufus would take it all back. He can't, now. Harry Peckham is a real skipper, a real man and a proper sailor."

The port superintendant stared thoughtfully at the Rose's old-fashioned bows, newly gilt; at her high, shining bridge; at the general neatness of her, and nodded gravely.

"No, I had nothing to do with giving Peckham the Rose," he assented. "I'm not the man to shirk responsibility at times. But not for worlds would I take the burden of setting Harry Peckham up there in command. It was Rufus' business and he's responsible. Not I. Nowhere, no time. Not I!"

"Responsible for what?" growled the engineer curiously.

The superintendant shifted his tobacco and gave no response other than a slow glance at his companion.

"You better count on 22 days' steaming," he said presently.

"Twenty-two days!" croaked the other.

"Thought we were loading for Ensenada?"

"You are," was the calm reply. "I just warn ye, that's all."

"Rufus ain't anything?"

"Rufus ain't here and hasn't been here in a fortnight and no word from him," the superintendant answered slowly. "Nobody knows what business he's on. But my notion is, the Rose of Avalon better be full up with fuel and supplies. Just a notion, of course."

The chief digested this and nodded. "In that case, I better be off," he suggested. "Told the captain?"

"I don't see any call for it," was the reply.

The chief debated to himself the possible reasons for the hint he had been given, reached no conclusion, and kept his usual silence when Peckham remarked curtly on the amount of oil taken aboard.

"It takes oil to carry oil," Peckham suggested. "But your department pays the freight, of course."

The engineer had no good reason to propose and said nothing. He had served the Merchants and Packers' many years. He was ready for any event.

Women Who Need the Money; Why Not Syndicate Your Time? How One Does It

NEEDED—Industry and Cleverness; RESULT—$60 a Week and Own Home Not Neglected.

SUPPOSE you are a woman with young children doubly dependent on you—1, for support; 2, for care.

What are you going to do about it?

Are you going to keep a home for your children—supported by subsidies from relatives?

Or are you going to pay the bills by taking an all-day job in shop or office while you live in a hall bedroom and board your little family with strangers?

Thousands of women choose one alternative or the other every day—choose between become parasites or doing their mothering by proxy.

There is a third solution. This is the story of a woman who found it. Mrs. Penniless—it's not her name, but it WAS her description two years ago—is supporting comfortably her two little fatherless daughters, aged six and eight, and is keeping them in a home with her by the simple process of syndicating her time.

She sells a certain number of hours each day at a flat average rate, $1.50 per hour and thus earns about $60 a week. Each day is so scheduled, however, that she has enough time of her own to prepare her children's meals and to be their companion when they are out of school. Mrs. Penniless simply makes a profitable commodity of the time which her more plutocratic friends spend on bridge, matinees, window shopping and similar diversions.

For example: She arises at 7 a. m., helps her children with their dressing, prepares their simple breakfast of cereal, fruit, milk and eggs and sends them off to school at 8:30. They save their lunch at school and are safe till late in the afternoon.

For two hours, Mrs. Penniless works in her own little apartment—washing dishes, bing the vacuum cleaner, dusting, mending the beds, perhaps preparing a part of the dinner which she puts in the fireless cooker. At 10:30 she goes to the home of Mrs. Smythe, who has a weekly luncheon for her women friends. She can find no servant clever enough to cook and serve a luncheon as delicious as that Mrs. Penniless knows how to prepare, and gladly pays the latter 15, with lunch included, for her service.

From 2 to 4:30 Mrs. Penniless shops for Mrs. Jones and earns $3—besides getting a commission in certain shops where she is well known. From 4:30 to 7:30 she is with her children in the park and at home, the three dining happily together. The youngsters go to bed early, and she has two hours and a half, from 7:30 to 10, for copying briefs or manuscript on her typewriter, and earning $4.25. The total day's income is $12.25.

Saturday and Sunday she keeps free for her children, but for the rest of the week her income is practically the same, although her jobs include almost even "chore" which indolent, incapable women like to have performed for them.

What Chatterer Knew About Happy Jack.

"There better that you be unheard if you can say no kindly word."

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel sulked. You see he was in a bad temper. But he didn't dare sulk long. Old Mother Nature had told him to tell all that he knew about Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, and he was afraid to disobey. "I don't know much good about him," he mumbled at last.

"And you don't know much bad about me, either," retorted Happy Jack sharply. Old Mother Nature held up a warning hand. "That will do," said she sternly. "The way you two cousins quarrel is a disgrace to the Green Forest. Now, Chatterer, go on."

"Happy Jack is more than twice my size, but that I'm not afraid of him," began Chatterer, and glared at Happy Jack.

IS THIS YOUR TYPE?

By MARIE LA ROQUE

Long Eye.

"THE long eye," says our Hindoo physiognomist, "is musical and sensual." And whether or not it is musical, I think almost all agree that it gives a somewhat sensual expression to the face. The round, wide-open eye betokens something of innocence and maidenly modesty, while the long eye which is often made to look that way through a sensual relaxation of the lid, belongs to the woman who is no novice in the school of passion; or at least she gives that impression.

The Countess de Castiglione, that radiantly beautiful Florentine, won such a reputation for her charms and her amours in the reign of Louis Napoleon in France, had almost-shaped eyes, and this was quite in keeping with the popular notion about this sort of eyes and the facts about the Countess. They have been described as brilliant, almost-shaped eyes, the color of which she liked, even as a young maiden in Italy, to enhance by the use of plain but warm shades of violet, amethyst or lavender.

It is said that her mother, who was almost blind, used to guard her fascinating daughter when on warm evenings her suitors would flock to her house to bask in her radiant charms. When the Countess wore this favorite shade the mother felt that she was in an especially daring mood.

"Don't touch the Countess," the half-blind mother would say to the suitors, "I can't see, but I feel clearly that she's in violet."

And speaking of the Countess of Castiglione's fascinating almost-shaped eyes it is said that she was so used to masculine adulation from her childhood that she never lowered those eyes—as the other girls in Florence were accustomed to do—when she received the glances or addresses of a suitor. She took it quite as a matter of course and those almost eyes looked out with the steadiness and no-challenge of a boy.

The ladies who are canvases of the celebrated Italian painter Botticelli were of this long-eyed type; they were long, limpid eyes which with the sweet sensuous mouth gave an expression of mocking loveliness that has come down to us through the centuries and makes Botticelli's women appear to us today as much as they did to his contemporaries.

The Countess of Castiglione, exquisitely formed in many other respects, is described as having had very beautiful "soft long eyes." They were an inheritance from her father, James IV, of Scotland.

Diana of Poitiers was one of the many charming women of France who had almost eyes—eyes that gave a world of expression to rather severely classic features. According to Galen the eye of genius is the almost-shaped eye, which must also, to be indicative of genius, possess thick-skinned eyelids, which appear to half cover the pupil.

Mary, Queen of Scots, Who Had Long Eyes.

In winter when he is hungry he hunts for those buried nuts.

at Happy Jack. "He is all gray excepting underneath; there he is white. He has a tremendously big tail and is so proud of it that he shows it off every time he gets a chance. I wouldn't have such a tail myself."

"You wouldn't because you couldn't," interrupted Happy Jack.

Chatterer pretended that he didn't hear this. "When he sits up he has a way of folding his arms on his breast," continued Chatterer. "What he does it for I haven't the least idea unless it is to keep his hands warm in cold weather. He builds a nest very much like mine. Sometimes it is in a hollow tree, but quite as often it is in the branches of a tree. Sometimes he has both kinds of nests. He is a fairly good traveler in the forest, but he spends a great deal of time on the ground, much more than I do. He likes open woods best, especially where there are many nut trees. He has a storehouse, where he puts away nuts for winter, but he buries in the ground and under fallen leaves more than he stores away. In winter, when he is hungry, he hunts for those buried nuts and, somehow, manages to find them even when they are buried under snow. When it comes to stealing he is no better than I am. I have seen him steal birds' eggs, and I wouldn't trust him unwatched near one of my storehouses."

It was Happy Jack's turn to become indignant. "I may have taken a few eggs when I accidentally ran across them, but I never go looking for them," said he. "I don't take them unless I am hungry and can't find other food. I don't make a business of robbing birds as you do, and you know it. Everybody loves me, and that is more than you can say."

"That's enough," declared Old Mother Nature sharply. "You two cousins never have agreed, and I am afraid never will. Have you told me all you know about Happy Jack, Chatterer?"

Chatterer nodded. He was still numbing to himself angrily and wasn't quite enough to reply. Old Mother Nature took no notice of this. "What you have told us is good as far as it goes," said she. "You said that Happy Jack is all gray excepting underneath. That's true, but sometimes a Gray Squirrel isn't gray at all but all black."

Peter Rabbit's long ears flew up with astonishment. "How can a Squirrel that is gray be black?" he demanded.

Old Mother Nature smiled. "That is a fair question," said she. "Gray Squirrel is simply a name for Happy Jack's family. Sometimes some of the babies are born with black coats. Of course they are the same kind of Squirrels only they look different. In some parts of the country there are many of these black-coated Squirrels, and people think they are a different kind. They are not. They are simply black-coated Gray Squirrels. Just remember this. Now I think this will do for the lesson on Happy Jack."

HOME ECONOMIES

By Mrs. Elizabeth Kent.

Growing Things.

PLANTS teach both grown-up and children more about life as it really is, than anything else. They are the truest things in the world; there is no fooling about them, their obedience to the laws of nature is as obvious as it is perfect. A child who watches even one plant and takes care of it, learns his duty to the world of his environment, and he is learning to think that his whole concern in life is with other people.

Let a child choose flowers or vegetables, as he likes, let him have one pot of earth, or a dozen in a window box, or a garden plot of fair size, as circumstances permit, but let him plant, protect, water, and watch some growing thing; let him see what happens when he neglects it, let him know the full pride and benefit of his success if his care is adequate. If you can take time, show him how beans sprout in water, how apple buds in the house, how bulbs start in water or wet sand, and then let him plant his seeds and observe the miracle of growth. A child likes quick results so that it is wise to choose seeds of quick development in the beginning such as radishes, lettuce nasturtiums or petunias.

A box of earth, five cents' worth of seeds, and a watering-pot from the five and ten cent store (not essential, but very precious),—these make an inexpensive outfit for a kind of training that is profoundly important in a child's life. Not every child will care about it, but the point is that gardening is a kind of instruction in which failure is as convincing an argument as success.

The child finds himself in the presence of elements that he cannot cajole. Nature will back his honest effort, and mock his inefficiency.

It is not only the child who will profit by growing things. The oversight and sympathy of the parents will educate them constantly, and success and failure equally will remind them that what is happening in the plant is happening less obviously, but just as surely, in the child, in his need for air, sun, food, steady care and understanding. The child, too, is a growing thing.

Maxims of a Modern Maid

LOVE is a flame—but to some it is candle-light; to some, will-o'-the-wisp; to some, conflagration.

The man who marries one woman in order to forget another, loves—not THAT other, but SOME other—all the days of his life and wife.

The moon may have been made for lovers—but it's pretty tough on the moon!

Even in New York a truly respectable man is somewhat pained when a Nice Woman denounces prohibition.

When a proud, noble "sensitive gentleman" is bullied by his employer, there exists the possibility that the latter may be a much-harassed man and that the former has a streak of yellow a yard wide.

If you will live with the assumption that the worst possible thing always happens you will be due for a few happy surprises.

THE BOOK OF PROMISE.

With soul a-thrill and eyes a-gog,
Whenever I've a leisure minute,
I read the seed-man's catalogue
And gaze upon the pictures in it.
With many loud, ecstatic "gee's!"
And many large astonished "Goshes!"
I view the plots of giant peas
And cuts of Brobdignagian squashes.

I see depicted, row on row
Of lettuce heads, in sunny valleys;
Enormous lettuce heads that grow
As big as balls in bowling alleys.
And corn whose tassels loom so tall
(Black Mexican and Golden Bantam)
They overtop the garden wall
Along which seedsmen always plant 'em.

I know that when I sow the seeds,
No matter how I watch and tend 'em,
My harvest will be only weeds.
Yet I shall have the seedman send 'em.
I know that not upon this earth
Can men raise plants, for love or wages,
Of such an equatorial girth
As those displayed upon these pages.

And yet, I thrill each passing year
When I behold the pleasing pictures,
With alternating hope and fear
I scatter seeds and growing mixtures;
No garden truck my labors bring,
But why should hope be base or sordid?
For faith is a delightful thing
Although it seldom is rewarded.

(A silence.)

A Still Smaller Voice: Please, sir, a baby!—Blighty, London.

The Fate of Heroes.

Father (endeavoring to blend instruction and amusement): Yes, children, Mr. Lloyd George saved his country just as Joan of Arc saved France.

Bright Child: And when are they going to burn Mr. Lloyd George, daddy?—Passing Show.

Wait a Minute, Judge.

After having been fined $5 and costs the ex-prisoner addressed some rather strenuous language to the Judge and then ran, with all his might. An officer captured him and brought him before the Justice, who fined him $10 more.

"Had you been chased and refined in your language," said the Justice, "you would not have been chased and refined."

Job for the Blind.

Will: So your poor, blind grandmother wants a job?

How: Yes. Do you know of any work for her?

Will: Sure. Any sorcery will hire her as chaperon.—California Pelican.

Sufficient Reason.

"I'll never ask another woman to marry me as long as I live."

"Refused again?"

"No—accepted!"—Columbia Jest.

The Faithful Ouija.
